Republican Parleys Narrow the Field.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Narrowing of the field of Republican presidential candidates to Hoover and Dawes now appears a possibility.

Such an outcome is anticipated by a number of the Republican national committeemen who participated in pre-campaign conferences in Washington during last week.

The net result of these political powwows was to dim the outlook for the nomination of Charles E. Hughes and to emphasize the feeling that the following of Frank O. Lowden eventually would turn to Dawes.

A harmonious conclusion of the contest might be a Hoover and Dawes or a Dawes and Hoover ticket.

Forecasts Are Vague.

Just what will happen in the 1928 convention may not unlikely remain in comparative doubt up to the balloting. Such test of strengths as take place in primary states will not be decisive, according to present opinion, and no candidate will have a majority of the delegates at the start of the convention, it is believed. There will be a tendency toward favorite sons and uninstructed delegations with the ultimate action dependent upon conferences of the leaders.

The drop in Hughes stock is considered to have resulted from a quite definite notice served on the eastern Republican chieftains by western committeemen that some one else must be selected if the west is to be placated.

West Opposed to Hughes.

The argument advanced by spokesmen for the New York G. O. P. organization that no Republican except President Coolidge or Hughes could carry that state against Al Smith failed to satisfy the westerners. Hughes, according to the western theory, would lose enough normal Republican states in the west to nullify a New York victory.

Preference of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for Hughes had been counted upon to go far toward bringing about his nomination. Mr. Mellon, however, it is understood, would not be averse to the selection of his cabinet colleague, Mr. Hoover. If it became necessary to swing to some one other than Hughes or Hoover in order to beat Lowden Mr. Mellon might even go to Dawes.

Lowden to Be Strong at Start.

Although most Republican leaders appear skeptical of any prospect of the nomination of Lowden, they recognize that if he is the only active preconvention candidate his agricultural support may give him a larger total than any other at the beginning of the balloting.

The favorite son and uninstructed delegations will decide the result. Such states as Kansas may prove important factors. David W. Mulvane, Kansas national committeeman, who took part in the conferences of the last week, indicated that his delegation would be pledged to support Senator Curtis of that state. While not announcing his second choice, it was generally understood that he favored Hoover, and that he was emphatic in opposing Hughes.

Dixie Delegates Not en Bloc.

George W. Bean, Republican national committeeman from Florida, in a statement today, asserted that the southern delegates would not be delivered en bloc for any candidate. He said that neither C. Bascom Slemp nor any one else could deliver the south. The southern states, he indicated, will send uninstructed delegations to the convention.

COOLIDGE LEADS IN WEST

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sheridan, Wyo., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—After a month's survey of political conditions in nine western states, from the Missouri river to the Pacific coast, two names stand out as the only ones on which there is unanimity of party sentiment for presidential candidates—the names of Calvin Colidge and Al Smith.

For western Democrats at this time the problem of a candidate is solved. They are ready to hand Gov. Smith the nomination because they think he has won it, because opposition is scattered, because they think he is the only man who has a chance to save the minority party by cutting into the Republican vote.

Satisfied with Coolidge.

For the Republicans there never has been a time, old political observers say, when the people were less able or willing to indicate a preference as a successor to President Coolidge. The strength of the President is evenly

SEEK BANKER'S HIDDEN LOOT IN $400,000 THEFT

Esser May Win His Freedom in Year.

Hints that he might disclose a hiding place in which he has cached thousands of dollars worth of stocks and bonds were made from his cell in the Kane county jail yesterday by John L. Esser, confessed embezzler of funds estimated at $400,000 from the Aurora Trust and Savings bank of which he was president.

No definite statement was made, but investigators believe that Esser will tell where he has hidden the funds if he is given promise by the state that only a comparatively light sentence will be demanded in his trial. The prosecution has the option, it was pointed out, of having the banker indicted on one charge or on several. A plea of guilty to a charge of embezzlement calls for a sentence of one to ten years and under the Illinois parole law, Esser might be free in less than a year.

Again Promises to Repay.

Esser yesterday reiterated his promise of making complete restitution for everything he has taken.

"I have business holdings in Aurora and other properties of mine might be discovered," said Esser. "I hope that I won't be too long in prison. I want to get out and restore every penny I have taken."

He was visited for the first time during the day by his wife, Mrs. Kittie Esser, who spent some time with him. He was not questioned by those in charge of the case, a decision having been made that a checkup of his accounts should first be completed while the bank is closed.

Meets National Bank Directors.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson was at the bank all day and was closeted for some time with directors of the Aurora National bank, thus strengthening reports that the two banks are to be merged. Stockholders of Esser's bank have promised that depositors will not lose because of Esser's embezzlements.

Meanwhile, there was much dispute as to what Esser did with the $400,000 he embezzled. There were rumors that he was connected with some of the big bootleggers of Kane county, but it was pointed out that the bootlegging industry is usually profitable.

Another report was that Esser made a number of unprofitable investments, sinking $60,000 in a printing company which since lost money. He was said to owe about $36,000 to Chicago banks, but deposited good security on these loans.

Paid Tax on $31,000 Income.

Esser paid an income tax on a 1926 income of $31,000, he told a friend. His salary at the bank was $7,500 a year.

Esser has engaged two Aurora attorneys, E. L. Lyon and D. H. Gunsel, to handle his case. The first hearing will be held a week from today, when the banker is arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. S. Peck, who issued the warrant charging embezzlement. The justice, it was expected, will hold Esser to the grand jury.

Seek $50,000 for Bail.

Judge John R. Newhall conferred with local officials about the advisability of calling the November grand jury into session so that Esser might be indicted at once. He doubted the advisability of the move and it was practically decided that Esser's case would follow the usual routine.

Several of Esser's friends were seeking yesterday to raise $50,000 for his bail, although there was a belief that because of possible feeling among the bank's depositors, he would be safer in jail.

BANDITS IN GUISE OF COLLEGIANS ROB DRUG STORE

Six youths wearing yellow slickers decorated with drawings of skulls and crossbones went into the drug store of Frank Fogelson, at 5977 North Clark street last night. Two drew revolvers and kept Fogelson, his son Bernard, and two customers covered while the others looted the cash register of $60. Running out the robbers leaped into a collegiate style flivver. Fogelson followed them to the curb. As they drew away he read the chalked message on the rear of the car. "We Know Our Oranges," it stated.

Hunt Missing Caddy's Body After Threats

County highway police under the direction of Lieut. Lester Laird late yesterday dragged ponds near the links of the Skokie and Bob-o'-Link Country clubs in their search for Teddy Franks, 15 year old caddy, who disappeared from his home at 1558 Jonquil terrace just a week ago.

The police said they had found several witnesses who believed the boy might have been murdered, and today they are to drag a deep clay hole on the golf links and carry on further search for his body. They took action after they had questioned a dozen or more caddies, the boy's mother, Mrs. Irene Franks, and a number of others.

Arrest One on Threat Charge.

One rival caddy, Arthur Orsi, 17 years old, of Highland Park, known among his companions as Gumbo, was said to have made threats against the missing boy. He was arrested on a charge of making threats and released on bond after being held for forty-eight hours.

In their investigation the police found a number of clews, they said, indicating young Franks might have been done away with. They said they had been skeptical but finaly decided to push their search.

They learned that Teddy was a popular boy, that he was well known among the members of the Sunset Ridge, as well as the Skokie and Bob-o'-Link clubs, that he was courteous and that women members often asked to have him caddy at some clubs.

Caddies Tell About Threats.

Some of the caddies questioned said the boy received larger tips than any of the others on the courses and that that had aroused jealousy and ill feeling among a certain element of the caddies.

Orsi was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Franks. The mother said she had received information from Robert Lewis, 23, a roving caddy known as Whitey, and from Nicholas Etienne, 18, of Wilmette, known as Frenchy, that Orsi had threatened her son. These two boys were questioned by the county highway police, to whom they told the same story they had given Mrs. Franks.

They said they were on the links of the Bob-o'-Link club a week ago last Saturday when they heard Orsi warn young Franks to stay away from there.

Quote Warning Given Boy.

"'You stay away from here from now on, or they'll find you in one of these ponds,'" they quoted Orsi as having said. Orsi, questioned about this statement, at first admitted having said it, but later said he did not make it. It was after he had been repeatedly questioned in the forty-eight hours he was held that the police finally placed the threat charge against him.

The Franks boy was last seen near the links of the Bob-'o-Link club late in the afternoon a week ago yesterday.

FROST REPORTED OVER MIDWEST; DAMAGE SLIGHT

Light frost which appeared unevenly last night over most of the middle west was believed to have caused but slight crop damage, according to C. A. Donnel, assistant weather forecaster.

The only damage, according to Mr. Donnel, was suffered by tender vegetables, truck stuff that was still in the ground, and flowers, most of the corn and the fruit already being safe from anything but a heavy freeze. Last night's frost was only slightly more severe than the first of the season last Saturday morning, when the thermometer dropped to 42 degrees, Mr. Donnel said.

A marked rise in temperature is forecast for today, with probably showers tomorrow.

Dog's Howl Causes Rescue of Woman Trying Suicide

Howls of her pet dog yesterday brought neighbors in time to save the life of Mrs Arnold Fenner, 32 years old, who had turned on the gas in her home at 2805 North Springfield avenue. The woman is said to have been despondent over ill health and seized the chance to attempt suicide when her husband, Arnold, took their 9 year old son out on a visit to a friend's home.

Princess Pays in Forest Hut for Carol's Sin

BUCHAREST, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The beautiful Princess Helen of Rumania, her faith in humanity shattered and her hopes of happiness in marriage blighted by the desertion of former Crown Prince Carol, today decided to dedicate her life to Red Cross nursing and reclamation of fallen girls. With encouragement from officials of the Rockefeller Foundation, she established a school for nurses in Bucharest, which she personally supervised and which she formally dedicated today.

There already are twenty-five students in the school, including one American girl. Princess Helen hopes to enlist the interest of the American Red Cross in the institution since she is possessed only of the most slender means of her own to conduct the school. The princess also inaugurated a home for wayward and destitute girls, and dispensaries for sick children and indigent mothers.

"Slim Gray Princess."

Garbed in the white uniform of a nurse with the symbolic Red Cross on her forehead and chest, the "slim gray princess," as the natives call her, made a striking figure of beauty, benevolence and benignity, her beautiful bobbed blonde hair, growing in such profusion that it covers even her sad blue eyes and her lovely deep dimples.

To her intimate friends, the heartbroken princess confided that her love for Carol is dead and she has too little faith in mankind to remarry. Her family, however, is eager that she shall wed again in order to divert her mind from her present sorrows.

In Mountain Cottage.

Since her desertion by Carol, Princess Helen has lived alone with little King Michael and his pet dog in a cottage in the Carpathian mountains. Like a cloistered novitiate in a convent, she spends her days in meditation and prayer, surrounded by books, flowers, trees and birds. In its simplicity and plainness, her humble wooden abode on the summit of a pine clad mountain, overlooking the village of Sinaia, might be likened as the hut of any American trapper or woodsman in the Adirondack or Appalachian mountains.

Princess Helen is so intensely modest and retiring, her friends say, she would prefer the infinite peace, repose and seclusion in this Americanlike bungalow to a sovereign's golden crown and queendom over 16,000,000 people, which would have been her lot if Carol had not forsaken her.

Incendiarism in Three Successive Fires Hinted

Chief Anthony Mullaney of the Sixth battalion found evidences of incendiarism early yesterday following three fires within an hour in unoccupied frame dwellings at 1819, 1823, and 1957 Warren avenue. Each blaze had been started in the rear of the building.

Woman, 2 Men Shot in Fight in N. Side Cafe

Two men and a woman were shot, one of the men perhaps fatally, by Dee Yow, Chinese manager of the Oriental Gardens, 1563 Howard street, following a dispute early this morning over a bill for $1.65.

Music to which many of the seventy-five patrons in the place were dancing at the time came to an abrupt halt as six revolver shots were fired, and men and women rushed panic stricken to the doors. One of the wounded men, Clarence Lloyd, 23 years old, 5627 Mozart street, was shot in the right knee as one of the manager's bullets missed its mark.

Rogers Park police were told that a party of four made up of George Devorak, 32, of 903 Leland avenue; Isabelle Symon, 19, of 2311 Giddings street, with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Walgron, 6040 Winthrop avenue, had visited the place and started to leave the restaurant without paying for their food.

Says Woman Grabbed Him.

"I asked them for their check," Yow explained to the police. "One of the men threw it on the floor. A woman grabbed me by the throat and shook me. The others ran downstairs and came back with an automobile crank and started breaking the dishes.

"Then I broke away and took the gun to defend myself and stop them from wrecking the place. I shot six times and everybody ran out."

Devorak, who is assistant superintendent for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea stores in Rogers Park, was most seriously wounded. He was shot through the kidneys and in the abdomen. At the Rogers Park hospital it was said he may not live. Miss Symon was shot in the leg.

Detectives Richard Harrity and Walter Jones said Mrs. Walgron was the woman who took the Chinese by the throat while Devorak and her husband ran down to the car. Walgron disappeared after the shooting and orders were issued for his arrest. His wife was held with Yow at the station.

Frequented by Students.

In the party with Lloyd, the other injured man, were Clyde Anderson, 2122 Ainslie street; Alice Lower, 19, 4820 North Ashland avenue, and Miss Marie Garland, 23. They accompanied him to the Evanston hospital, where his wound was dressed, and then to the Rogers Park station.

The restaurant in which the shooting took place is said to be one much frequented by Northwestern university students.

ROBBERS FORCE STUDENT TO WALK HOME IN HIS SOX

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Two unidentified men at an early hour Sunday, kidnaped William C. Bosch, 5841 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, a University of Michigan sophomore, as he was going to his home, took him to the city limits, and robbed him of $4, a watch, and all his clothing. He was forced to walk home with nothing on but his garters and socks. Both the men were armed and the car in which they were riding was stolen.

Earlier in the evening they attempted to rob a doctor as he was about to enter his car. Seeing the men sitting in his automobile he returned to his house and the two men ran. Busch was not injured but during the time he was picked up until he was told to return home, he faced revolvers.

MINISTERS ACT TO STOP RAIDS ON SERB BORDER

Poland Drafts Note Warning Lithuania.

BULLETIN.

VILNA, Poland, Oct. 9.—(U. P.)—After a meeting here tonight of the Polish cabinet a communique was issued saying it had been decided "to prevent oppression of Polish people who by peace treaties had been placed under Lithuanian rule." It had been indicated earlier that the Polish government would send Lithuania a sharply worded note—possibly taking the form of an ultimatum—demanding cessation of the alleged oppression.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 9.—A state of siege on the Bulgarian side of the border between Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia will be proclaimed as soon as King Boris returns. The king is expected home from Italy tomorrow. The cabinet recommends this step but refuses to take action before the monarch arrives to sign the ukase. The sobranje [national assembly] will be called immediately to ratify the action of the king and government. The aim of the state of siege is to prevent further Bulgarian irregulars' raids into Serbia, which have caused strained relations between the two countries.

Laid to Bulgarians.

The Bulgarian government, it is believed, is satisfied that the Jugo-Slav minister, M. Nechitch, can produce sufficient proof to show that the bombings, shootings, assassinations and other outrages in southern Serbia in the last few weeks were perpetrated by Bulgarian irregulars. Yet Bulgaria is hesitating to take drastic action against the Macedonian league, remembering that it was the ire of this organization which brought the tragic end of the peasant government, as well as of Premier Stamboulisky, in 1923.

Foreign Minister Bouroff conferred with the Jugo-Slav minister today. He expressed regret for the recent invasions of Serbian territory and denied that the Bulgarian government was in any way implicated. He said a few irresponsible men were to blame, and added that he hoped the dispute would soon be settled peacefully.

Free Hand for Military.

It is expected that if the king consents to a state of siege, popular opinion will be sufficiently strong to give the military authorities carte blanche on the frontiers to prevent irresponsible elements, bent on creating trouble in Jugo-Slavia, from crossing the border.

Indicative of the intense excitement of the population, as well as the efforts of the Bulgarians to obtain the support of the league of nations against Jugo-Slavia and even create sympathy for the movement in Macedonia for autonomy, which is the real cause of the present crisis, strenuous demonstrations were held today before the hotel where a representative of the league of nations, Lord Gladstone, son of the famous English statesman, is staying.

Veterans Lead March.

For more than an hour and a half a procession headed by veterans of the Russo-Turk war of 1878, followed by members and officers of the reserve corps, student organizations, and all Macedonian organizations, passed, singing Macedonian hymns. The name of William Gladstone, who intervened in favor of Bulgaria after the Turkish massacres of 1876, was cheered.

The son of the famous prime minister, with Lady Gladstone beside him, appeared on the balcony and gave a short response in English, saying that for twenty-two years he had been following with sympathy the progress in the liberation of Bulgaria. The speech was frantically applauded. Many women were weeping.

Later delegations from Batak, Thrace, Tsaribrod presented Lady Gladstone with a costume of the period of the Bulgarian insurrection. The delegates kissed the hands of Lord and Lady Gladstone.

General's Assassins Slain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 9.—The government officially reports tonight that two of the three assassins who murdered the commander of the frontier guard, Brig. Gen. Michael Kovachevitch, precipitating the crisis with Bulgaria, were shot dead this morning in a battle with police at Radovishta, near the Bulgarian border. The third, a Bulgarian, was arrested and is reported to have confessed.

The newspapers charge the general was murdered by order of Bulgarian authorities. One of the two alleged assassins who was killed was a Bulgarian subject. The other was a tailor's apprentice in the town where the murder occurred.

The funeral today of Gen. Kovachevitch was a national event. All officials of the government and diplomatic corps passed in procession before the castle, where the king stood at attention. The Association for National Defense, which organized the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand, which caused the world war, held a huge meeting during which the 4,000 members present condemned the league of nations for its inactivity in the present crisis.

Britain Seeks to Avert Clash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The British government regards the dispute between Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria as serious on account of the fact that Italy is supposed to be backing Bulgaria, and France backing Serbia. It was reported in London tonight that the British chancellor of the exchequer, Winston Churchill, has gone to Italy to discuss the question with Premier Mussolini, but THE TRIBUNE correspondent has been unable thus far to obtain a confirmation of this rumor.

Urge Bulgaria to Act.

[Copyright: 1927: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 9.—As the result of conversations between Foreign Minister Briand of France and Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, instructions have been sent through the French and British ministers to Bulgaria pointing out to the Bulgar government the advisability of taking steps to assure the Jugo-Slavs against repetition of raids by bands across the Macedonian frontier into Jugo-Slav territory. At the same time moderation has been advised for Jugo-Slavia.

In the event that advice from Paris and London does not settle the latest trouble, there is a strongly voiced opinion that the council of the league of nations should intervene as it did so successfully in a similar dispute between Bulgaria and Greece. It is pointed out that it is doubtful if Bulgaria will now take any measures to curb Macedonian organizations which threaten trouble in the direction of both Jugo-Slavia and Greece. It is apparent that sentiment in Paris and London leans towards the Serbs.

Lithuania Mourns Loss of Vilna.

KOVNO, Lithuania, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The seventh anniversary of the occupation of Vilna by the Polish general Zeligouski was observed today throughout Lithuania as a day of mourning, with a one minute silence at noon. Numerous protest meetings were held against the treatment by Poland of Lithuanian subjects in Vilna.

Celebration in Poland.

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Commemorative ceremonies were held in various cities of Poland today, the occasion being, according to the official announcement, "The seventh anniversary of the incorporation of Vilna into Poland." The chief exercises were at Warsaw. They were attended by Marshal Pilsudski, the premier, and other state officials.

FRANCO-BRITISH ENTENTE BORN OF GERMAN REBUFF

Shows Kaiser Refused Alliance Plea.

[Copyright: 1927: By The New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—That Britain entered the fateful entente cordiale with France only after repeated efforts to achieve an Anglo-German agreement had been rudely defeated by Germany; that she sought Japanese cooperation in the Anglo-Japanese treaty for much the same reason, and that she had no conception when she concluded the entente with France where it would lead her, is strikingly indicated in the first and second volumes of "British Documents on the Origin of the War, 1889 to 1914," which will be published tomorrow.

Volume XI, which dealt with the period immediately preceding the outbreak of the war, was published some months ago. The present volumes go back to the earliest origins of the great conflict and deal with the end of the British policy of isolation and the entente cordiale and the Anglo-Japanese treaty which followed.

King's Minutes Published.

For the first time in English history the king's minutes also are published. The king is King Edward, who, it is evident, played an even more active rôle than was suspected in the diplomatic maneuvers which bound Britain and France together in an alliance which was to withstand the shock of war. He, incidentally, was the first Englishman to suggest an entente with Russia.

Russia and England in March, 1898, sought and almost negotiated an alliance with Germany. Joseph Chamberlain was the moving spirit in this, but curiously enough, his intervention defeated its own purpose since he was colonial secretary and the Germans were suspicious of the negotiations conducted by the colonial instead of the foreign secretary. The truth was that the foreign secretary, Lord Salisbury, was unalterably opposed to the whole scheme.

Finally Turns to France.

In 1893 an Anglo-German agreement was again in the wind, but this time Joseph Chamberlain was against it, and the British newspapers condemned it. This final failure left England face to face with France, with whom she concluded an agreement in 1894.

From the published documents, it appears that England thought she was merely liquidating her existing difficulties with France, not concluding an alliance which was later to bring her into war with Germany.

TRY TO SAVE PAL PARALYZED BY FOOTBALL HURT

Palacios, Tex., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The spark of life in Carl Berry, 16 year old football player whose lungs were paralyzed Saturday, was flickering low tonight.

Kept alive for thirty hours by the efforts of his friends and his teammates, who administer artificial respiration, Berry laughed and joked today—during his conscious spells—unaware that doctors have given up hope.

Two physicians have diagnosed the trouble as infantile paralysis. One asserted it was traceable to injury when the youth was struck in the chest.

The boy's friends are working in shifts of 15 or 20 minutes. Berry's lungs began to fail him about 10 a. m. Saturday, and in a short time it was necessary to apply artificial respiration.

REDS RAID HALL OF ROYALISTS; KILL 1, WOUND 12

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—Eight hundred and fifty Berlin communists—the red front fighters—wearing their uniforms, accompanied by brass bands and with red flags flying, made an automobile raid on the township of Lichtenberg, on the Berlin-Hamburg line, where the monarchists, the "steel helmet" men, were relaxing from their military labors by dancing, drinking beer, and toasting the former kaiser. The communists stormed the hall where the "steel helmets" held sway, killed one, severely wounded twelve others, and wrecked the ballroom. Police drove out the Reds after a stiff fight. Many were wounded on both sides and ten Reds were arrested.

3 YOUTHS DIE IN AUTO CRASH AFTER PARTY

Two Others Injured in Gary Smashup.

Three youths were killed and two others were seriously injured early yesterday morning when the automobile in which they were speeding homeward after a party was wrecked against a light pole at 24th street and Broadway, Gary.

The dead, all residents of Gary, are Joseph Patz, 21, of 1627 Van Buren street, a well known pugilist; Frank Miller, 26, of 1602 Van Buren street, and Anthony Dencagaze, 24, of 2175 Broadway. John David Jr., 23, of 3869 Connecticut street, and Peter Moresco, 21, were injured.

Loses Control of Car.

David, according to the police report, was driving the car, which belonged to Moresco's father. Traveling at a high rate of speed, he lost control of the car while making a turn. It crashed into the post and overturned, pinning the passengers in the wreckage. A pint of liquor, it was said, was found in the automobile.

Two deaths in Cook county raised the motor toll since Jan. 1 to 719.

Nicholas Makachuck, 27, of 2215 West 19th street, died of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile in which two Negroes were transporting alcohol at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. One of the men was captured. He said he was George Evans, 35, of 3745 Rhodes avenue. The other fled after the accident.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was struck and killed on the Dundee road near Wheeling by a car driven by Ames Geist of Deerfield township, Lake county. Giest was held for the inquest.

Near Death in Crash.

Stanley Walsh, 25, of 7618 Saginaw avenue was in a critical condition yesterday as a result of injuries suffered when an automobile in which has was riding overturned at South Park way and 34th streets. In the same accident William A. McDonald, 28, of 7818 Saginaw avenue, a county highway engineer, was killed.

Victor Gandle, 20, an Ohio State university student, suffered a fractured skull in an accident near Chicago Heights. He and three companions were on their way from Iowa City, where they attended the Ohio-Iowa football game Saturday, to Columbus at the time.

Four persons were taken to a hospital and one man held by the police following a collision of two automobiles at Kedzie and Fifth avenues where one of the cars rolled over in the street with four passengers and struck three pedestrians. The driver of one car fled.

Those severely injured are: Russel Schallman, 7 years old, 3521 Fifth avenue; his father, Leo Schallman, 37 years old, and mother, Mrs. Anne Schallman, and Miss Frances Schmidt, 23 years old, 3817 62d avenue, Cicero.

WINS PRIZE

CLARENCE KREJCI.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Chicago can boast the champion builders and flyers of model airplanes with a quartet of boys able to produce cups and trophies galore to support the claim.

Compilation of points in the annual miniature airplane tournament of the National Recreation congress, held here yesterday, gave the senior cup to C. Krejci of Chicago, with a total of 25 points; the junior cup to E. Marcouiller, also of Chicago, with 18 points, and the honors for indoor events to Burton Simcox, likewise from Chicago, who launched a machine which remained aloft for eight minutes.

Another youth from Chicago, Jack Lefker, 12, set what is believed to be a record for a junior designer by launching a model plane on a self-sustained outdoor flight of five minutes and 37 seconds.

Evanston, Ill., won the trophy for the greatest number of planes entered in proportion to population.

SCOTT'S BRAIN MAY BE GIVEN TO SCIENTISTS

Father and Widow Plan Detroit Burial.

The body of Russell Scott, condemned slayer, who hanged himself with his belt Saturday night in a solitary cell at the county jail after a three year fight to escape the gallows, will be taken to Detroit for burial, if the intentions of his father, Thomas J. Scott, and his widow, Mrs. Florence Scott, are carried out.

Thomas J. Scott, who lives in Windsor, Ont., learned of his son's suicide through Detroit newspapers. He left there at midnight last night for the inquest to be held here this morning, and announced that he would take the body back to Detroit.

Wife Weeps Beside Body.

The only visitor to the morgue at 716 North State street, where Scott's body lies on a marble slab, was his wife, who had stood by him through his trouble. She was weeping.

Possibility that Scott's brain may be turned over to scientists for examination was expressed by Attorney William Scott Stewart, who had defended the young man and obtained his numerous stays of execution. Mr. Stewart said numerous alienists had expressed a desire to examine the slayer's brain.

Mrs. Scott said she was unwilling to turn her husband's body over for that purpose but that, if the father approved, she would give her consent.

Victim's Father Visits Widow.

During the day, Joseph Maurer, father of the drug clerk for whose killing Russell Scott was sentenced to hang and his brother, Robert Scott, was sent to the penitentiary for life, visited Mrs. Scott's home. She was not there at the time, but he left his card.

"I don't think he came to scold me at this time," Mrs. Scott said. "I think he wanted to give me his sympathy."

The widow was resentful of the treatment her husband had received at the hands of jail officials. She complained that Russell had lost 16 pounds since he was put in solitary confinement a month ago.

FIT BATTLESHIP NEW YORK FOR MODERN COMBAT

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—The battleship New York, after spending fourteen months at the Norfolk navy yard, where it was converted into practically a new ship, will sail tomorrow morning for Cuba. It is to return in November.

The New York was modernized at a cost of $3,000,000. Its decks were strengthened to withstand aerial attacks, blisters were installed on its hull to protect it from torpedoes, new machinery was installed, its anti-aircraft battery was enlarged, and most of its guns relined or new ones substituted. Navy ordnance experts claim the New York is now equal to any first line ship in the navy.

The battleship Nevada is now at the yard, where it, too, will be modernized, when congress appropriates funds for the purpose.

CANDIDATE FIELD NARROWING TO HOOVER, DAWES

G. O. P. Parley Seen as Eliminating Hughes.

spread among the people. The average western Republican would be perfectly satisfied with Coolidge again.

Beyond this, when it comes to the necessity which then appears certain, picking another candidate, this correspondent has noted another interesting situation.

While there is no movement in any state to hand a delegation to Vice President Dawes, and while each state can be listed now as a Hoover or a Lowden state, yet the underlying idea is abroad in the west that Dawes would make a winning candidate. He could be put as second choice now in five states and third choice in four.

The Pacific coast is for Hoover. He would have no trouble now in Washington, Oregon, or his home state, California, and his popularity extends into Wyoming.

Wheat Belt for Lowden.

The Lowden strength is not felt as a state-wide fact until the corn and wheat belt of the nearer west is reached. In all the agricultural sections of the far western states, however, he has a lead that is apparent by districts. Where the primary system makes it possible he could get a few delegates from each state. South and North Dakota, Montana, Nebraska and possibly Colorado could be put down as Lowden states.

This puts Hoover and Lowden about on a par in the west, with Dawes always looming up in the back of men's minds. The west likes his downright candor, his picturesque method, and regards his career as assurance of a safe and sane administration. Hughes would not be popular, although he is highly respected and there is no reason to think that any state, normally Republican would go against him.

The west is waiting for word from the eastern leaders before taking up the presidential situation seriously. To carry any of the states given above, Hoover and Lowden would have to put on a campaign and go after delegates in an organized way. The Hoover leaders are waiting for the word to go, but have not received it. They are men of influence and standing.

Little Interest in Politics.

The Lowden campaign has not started either, except in a tentative way, with state leaders, sensing the steady attitude of the farmers and the feeling that Lowden is their friend, ready to step in when the time is ripe. There is little discussion of candidates, little interest shown in politics, in this season of harvest, when the west is gathering one of the greatest crops in years, getting ready to pay debts and start the new year with a smile. It is a poor year to capitalize on discontent.

Republican leaders in these states without exception consider Mr. Coolidge the strongest candidate, the one they could tie to in bringing the best results for the state ticket. Even the states where Lowden is strongest, Nebraska and the Dakotas, would accept Coolidge. The west would go dry and would defeat Smith on this issue alone, although he might take Republican votes in Montana and Wyoming and in the large centers everywhere.

The Smith candidacy at this stage has fallen into the hands of the vociferously wet groups. In Montana, Colorado and Nebraska the Democratic leaders are making frantic efforts to head off this issue by bringing up the tariff and other questions of a more distinct economic nature. But the personality of the candidate will rule, and Smith will be opposed by the dry vote everywhere.

Ritchie Next to Al Smith.

The growing sentiment among the Democrats is for what is termed liberalism, ideas which have been expressed for the longest period, and most pointedly perhaps, in the state rights speeches of Gov. Ritchie of Maryland. If for any reason the Smith candidacy should fail most of his western strength could be given to Ritchie. The Ritchie personality, however, is not known in the west. Smith's personality is, and he is liked.

The McAdoo strength was falling rapidly long before his withdrawal and afterward everything seemed to break toward Smith, except the groups of extreme drys found in every state. But they are without a rallying center that extends beyond state lines.

The move for favorite son delegation, which virtually means an uninstructed delegation, is growing in the absence of open campaigns, and more than ever before, since Oregon started the direct primary wave in 1910 will this question of a presidential candidate be thrown into the conventions. This applies particularly to the Republicans. The west will come prepared to go to Coolidge if that is possible, beyond that split as to Lowden and Hoover, with Dawes in the background everywhere.

4 MORE GENERALS JOIN REVOLT IN MEXICO, REPORT

Yaquis Also Declared to Be Aiding Gomez.

Phenix, Ariz., Oct. 9.—(AP)—According to the Arizona Republican, Gen. Pedro Medina, reported killed last sday along with Alfonso de la Huerta in a battle with federal troops about sixty miles below the international border, is alive and in the field against the federal goverment at the head of 900 Yaqui Indians. The Republican says its information came confidentially from sympathizers with the revolutionary cause of the De la Huerta family.

According to the same source, the Yaqui chieftains, Matus and Mori, with 900 more Indians, have recognized Gen. Medina as their leader and are marching to reinforce him in the neighborhood of Imuriz, scene of Alfonso de la Huerta's death.

Three Other Generals in Field.

Three De la Huerta generals who have been in active rebellion since when they took the field for Adolfo de la Huerta, a brother of Alfonso and former provisional president, are said to have joined Gens. Arnulfo Gomez and Hector Almada with 2,000 troops in the state of Vera Cruz. The rebel generals and their forces are given as Gen. de la Vidaltenario, with men; Gen. José Alteman, 600 men, and Gen. Luis Cursain, with 900 cavalry. Gen. Alteman formerly was chief of staff to Gen. Gomez when the latter was commanding general of the Vera Cruz district.

The same informants state that in the state of Mexico, Gen. Antonio and José Amcaha have revolted at the head of 1,500 infanty, cavalry, and a section of artillery. Both men are natives of Toluca, in the state of Mexico, and their defection is expected to draw with them many of their townsmen and friends throughout the state.

More Executions Reported.

Nogales, Ariz., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Special advices to the Nogales Herald today said Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, presidential candidate, and a leader of the rebellion, had established his force of 4,000 men in an elevated position on the outskirts of Perote, Vera Cruz. The reports also declared that five political leaders of the states of Vera-Cruz, Tlaxcala, Coahuila, and Hidalgo, had joined Gomez.

Official confirmation was received today of the execution in Mexico City of Generals Luis Hermosillo, Jose Moran, and Enrique Barrios Gonzales. Former Col. Castillo, with a force of 100 men, was reported in other dispatches to have attacked the municipal offices at Magiscatzin in the state of Tamaulipas yesterday.

Official reports to the Nogales, Sonora, military headquarters told of an encounter yesterday between federal forces under Gen. Luna Moran, in the state of Hidalgo, with rebels under the leadership of the two brothers, Jesus and Antonio Aguara. The rebel force of between 170 and 200 men was said to have been routed.

HITS AT PROFITEERS

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 9.—Anticipating the bosting of prices to a prohibitive stage, the regulatory council this morning issued a list of authorized prices for the most important foodstuffs, and called upon the public to pay no higher prices. Retailers exacting higher prices, giving short weight or refusing to sell articles will be severely dealt with. Bosting of prices followed hoarding of food, due to fears of the growth of the revolt which began a week ago.

The government is pressing its action to confiscate the property of the rebel generals, Arnulfo Gomez, who also was a candidate for the presidency, and Hector Almada, who led revolting troops out of Mexico City.

Prolonged Youth!

Empty words for women with aching feet

Youth knows no age limit for the modern woman. She retains her beauty . . . she is active socially and in business . . . she is an enthusiastic sportswoman long past the time when women used to be considered "too old." Yet, even today, there are thousands of women who are needlessly growing old too soon—women who allow the constant strain of aching feet to wear on their nerves and sap their vitality.

A needless sacrifice of youth and beauty—for Ground Gripper Shoes will give them quick and permanent relief. No other shoes combine these three corrective features—The Straight Line Inner Edge, the Flexible Arch and the Patented Rotor Heel. Be fitted to a pair right away and begin enjoying their healthful comfort.

SPAIN MAY QUIT NORTH AFRICA, DICTATOR SAYS

Britain Acts as Agent in Deal with France.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Spain may withdraw from Africa. With Great Britain acting as mediator some "very satisfactory arrangement" may become possible between Spain and France.

This, together with the fact that Spain does not desire possession of Gibraltar, was among the important disclosures by Gen. Primo de Rivera, the Spanish premier, in today's Sunday Times, in an interview outlining the discussion which the premier recently had with the British secretary of foreign affairs, Sir Austen Chamberlain, on the yacht Dolphin.

Does Not Want Gibraltar.

Regarding Gibraltar, Gen. de Rivera ridiculed the suggestion that the meeting concerned the ceding of the rock to Spain.

"Great Britain would never give back this point to Spain," he wrote, "Frankly, Spain does not want it."

According to the Spanish dictator, Sir Austen met him "on behalf of the British government and purely as a disinterested party, in order to try to solve many difficulties of great international importance between Spain and our near neighbors."

"I have not yet either refused or decided to accept Sir Austen's proposal," he said.

Better Off Out of Africa.

He declared that Spain had great trouble in northern Africa, but Great Britain has little or no interest there. He, Gen. de Rivera, is fast becoming of the opinion that Spain would be better off without interests there.

"But it always is a dangerous move to relinquish possessions to another power unless some very satisfactory compromise is arranged," the Spanish leader continued. "It is this that Sir Austen may do. With the permission of Spain, he has said he can show the way out of our difficulties and, with the British government acting as mediator, some very satisfactory arrangement may become possible between ourselves and France on the question of northern Africa."

Spain, Gen. de Rivera declared, is going to be one of the powers of the future in Europe, and England will join hands to consolidate the two countries with an entente cordial.

MAY GET OUT

Spain may give up its Moroccan possessions in North Africa, Primo de Rivera hinted in an interview. He said Great Britain, as mediator, had offered to arrange to transfer the territory in which Spain has spent vast treasure in blood and gold to France, which holds the adjoining portion of Morocco. The Spanish dictator is considering the offer.

35 IDENTIFIED AS CROOKS; 60 CRIMES SOLVED

Victims View Prisoners in Weekly Showup.

Four hundred prisoners were paraded before 350 victims of robberies yesterday in the regular weekly police department showup at the Des Plaines street station. Thirty-five of the suspects were identified and sixty crimes solved, according to Deputy Police Superintendent James L. Mooney, who inaugurated the Sunday afternoon identification parties six weeks ago.

"It was the most successful day we've had yet," said Mooney. "We are withholding the names of most of the men identified and their victims. Heretofore publicity has sometimes resulted in the prosecuting witnesses being bullied or threatened."

Four Identify Him as Robber.

John House, 42, one of the 400, was pointed out by four men as a robber. Those who made identifications are Edward Foster of 2415 Indiana avenue, Victor Reece of 5802 Prairie avenue, Bernard Boshelman of 5201 Bennett avenue, and George Bremen of [illegible] Alice place.

Robert J. Gugbt, 24, who was arrested with House, was identified as a stickup man by Robert Hoeflinger of [illegible] Fox street and Wilber Schwartz of 1359 South Laflin street.

Bandit Girl Not Identified.

William Cassidy, 35, was identified by Julius Tornoway, owner of a meat market at 1900 West Erie street, as the man who had robbed him of $180 and locked him in the icebox.

One girl was among those shown to the victims. She is Margaret Reed, who left a little town in Indiana and became a companion of bandits.

FINDS SUSPECT HE'S ABOUT TO SHOOT IS CHUM

Rays from a street light shining on the face of a burglar who held him by the throat as they grappled last night in a passageway near a bungalow at 5344 Warwick avenue stilled the hand of Policeman John Hock of the Irving Park station as he drew his revolver to shoot the man.

Recognizing the thief as a school chum of ten years ago, Hock dropped his gun. The other man released his grip on the policeman's collar and quietly accompanied him to the station, where he was booked on a charge of burglary. He is Frank Lapka, 25, 2115 Greenwich street, and was a former classmate of Hock at the Burr public school.

With a companion who escaped, Lapka had been seen breaking into the home of Roman Schultz at the Warwick avenue address. Lieut. Thomas Duffy and Hock responded to the call, and in an exchange of shots a toy bank was blown from the hand of the other burglar. Hock then grappled with Lauka as he ran from the house.

JAZZ IS FLEETING, HYMNS LIVE ON, BISHOP ASSERTS

Church and Music Not Divorced, Hughes Says.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

"Jazz and ragtime and such songs as 'The Good Old Summer Time' have their day and pass into oblivion, while 'Rock of Ages' and 'Jesus, Lover of My Soul,' live on forever," said Bishop Edwin H. Hughes in his sermon yesterday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park. He addressed an audience which filled the church and the assembly room, where his voice was carried by loud speaker.

Preceding the sermon a testimony meeting, known in Methodist parlance as a love feast, was conducted by the Rev. G. K. Flack. The five district superintendents of the Rock River conference, the Rev. J. H. Odgers, the Rev. E. G. Schultz, the Rev. Joshua B. Martin, the Rev. E. C. Lumsden, and the Rev. C. K. Carpenter, Dr. George Elliott, New York, and the pastor, Dr. M. N. English, assisted.

Not Divorced, He Says.

"There is no divorce between religion and music," Bishop Hughes declared in his sermon. "When Robert Ingersoll, the noted infidel, was buried, the Associated Press carried the announcement, 'There will be no music at the service.' Of course not. What has infidelity to sing about, anyway?"

Bishop Hughes then tested the musical knowledge of the audience by asking any one who could name any one of the 42 Italian operas written by Handel to raise his hand. No one responded.

"Well, I do not wish to claim superior knowledge," said the bishop. "I do not know the name of any one of those 42 operas myself. But it was when Handel took his themes from the Bible that he rose to the sublimity of the Hallelujah chorus, which nobody forgets.

"Perhaps none of you could name any of the 95 theses which Martin Luther nailed to the door of Wittenberg church, but Luther's hymn, 'A Mighty Fortress Is Our God,' is known and sung everywhere."

Sees Worship in Music.

Bishop Hughes said it was a sign of lack of appreciation of the essential worship in music that caused people to whisper and get on their wraps while the singing was in progress. They would not commit such vulgarity during prayer or the reading of the Scripture lesson, he declared.

"I believe in processionals and recessionals, but if I must choose between them and congregational singing I will let them go," he said. "I believe we can have both, but by all means we ought to restore congregational singing, which is the heritage of our church."

Elders, Deacons Ordained.

At the afternoon service Bishop Hughes, assisted by others, ordained the folowing as elders and deacons:

Deacons: Otto J. Baab, Roy. E. Bond, Christian J. Doenecke, Donald H. Gibbs, Paul W. Grimes, Reynold N. Hoover, John C. Irwin, Leslie R. Minion, Milo M. Mook, Frank T. Palin, Paul T. Sanders, and Frederick J. Schnell.

Elders: Harold C. Case, Earl W. Count, Morrison C. Galloway, Charles R. Goff, George T. Green, Lloyd F. Hoover, Ormal L. Miller, Ivan J. Obenshain, and Albion J. Tavenner.

Misses Elizabeth Fuessley, Esta Sisson, and Georgia Trumble were ordained deaconesses.

The conference, which has been in session since last Tuesday, is expected to adjourn today with the assignments of the 355 ministers to their various churches.

PASTOR DRAFTS APPEAL

The Rev. J. A. L. Warren, who was found guilty of misconduct with Miss Hazel Lamb, former maid in his Durand, Ill., parsonage, and expelled from the Methodist Episcopal church by a court of fifteen ministers of the Rock River conference, yesterday was preparing to file an appeal with the help of his counsel, the Rev. W. S. Fleming.

The expelled minister announced his intention of fighting for years if necessary to win reinstatement. If the tribunal which will hear his appeal, composed of five representatives from each of at least three neighboring conferences, turns him down he will take a final appeal to the general conference, he said.

"If I were guilty I wouldn't have contested the charges, but I am innocent and I will exhaust every opportunity to prove that I am guiltless," he said.

The church court's verdict on the case is expected to be presented to the Rock River conference in Oak Park this morning.

One of the ministers connected with the prosecution of Mr. Warren stated last night that the evidence was that the misconduct of which he was accused covered a period of three months and Miss Lamb testified to eight incidents of alleged misbehavior. He denied published reports that Mr. Warren had been accused of 25 instances of misconduct in 19 days.

PILOT AND TWO PASSENGERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Flint, Mich., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—An aviator and two passengers were burned to death when an airplane went into a nose dive at 100 feet as the plane was taking off shortly after noon today. It crashed into a field where the fuel tank exploded, cremating the plane and its occupants.

The dead, all of Flint, are William "Scottie" Clunie, pilot; Joseph Holser, an employé of the aviation field, and Carl Ebert, a student flyer.

The pilot and the two passengers started off shortly after noon. The plane veered into the wind and as the aviator was banking for a turn the motor stopped and the machine crashed to the ground, where it was immediately enveloped in flames. Witnesses hurried to the fallen plane but could do nothing.

The three men were already dead. The plane was reduced to a mass of twisted metal fuselage and misshapen steel. The ship was bought by Harry Rodgers two weeks ago as a commercial plane. Clunie was his pilot.

Lytton English Made Smooth Calf Oxfords

PERHAPS it's the time and old-fashioned care its British makers take in lasting the "Premier." Perhaps it's the sinewy, smooth Calf leathers. And maybe it's the authentic, distinctively smart lines. But one thing is sure—the moment you slip on a pair of "Premier" Oxfords, you know that here is a shoe you'll be proud to own. In black and tan. Your size is here.

No meat dish is quite complete without the savory flavor of A.1 Sauce. In the cooking—or at the table—just a few drops work flavor wonders on any meat dish—try it.

A.1 SAUCE

Do This

Nightly if "That Schoolgirl Complexion" is your aim

By NORMA SHEARER

SCORES of thousands have gained clear skins in the following way. A way credited with more beautiful complexions than any other known. You see results on every side today.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin.

Rinse with warm water; then with cold. That is all—it's nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Largely on expert advice, millions use Palmolive Soap as above; and touch their faces with no other. For it is a true complexion soap. A soap made of cosmetic oils; made for one purpose only—to protect and beautify the skin.

Do that regularly, and particularly before bed. Note how much better your skin in even one week. Use powder and make-up all you like. Never leave them on over night.

GET REAL PALMOLIVE

Get Palmolive today. Costs but 10c a cake. Use no other on your face. But be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Crude imitations, represented to be of olive and palm oils, are not the same as Palmolive. Remember that and take care. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

ALL OF REMUS AS BOOTLEG KING DUE TO 4 WOMEN

Girl Reporter Uncovered His Huge Rum Deals.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—George Remus, former Chicago attorney, who is awaiting an early trial for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Imogene Remus, owed his downfall as a bootlegger chief and his trip to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta principally to four women.

One was Mrs. Remus, according to his own statements. He accused her of betraying his $1,000,000 bootlegging operations to the government and then, while he was in prison, with betraying his honor for the love of a prohibition investigator.

Woman Prosecuted Him.

The others were Miss Mary Chenoweth, a reporter for a Louisville paper, whose investigations first brought his huge dealings in illegal liquor to light; Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States, who supervised the collection of evidence against him, and Mrs. Mary Hubbard, owner of a little farm near Cincinnati, who became the star government witness at his trial.

In the background of the lurid career of Remus are two other female figures. One is his daughter by a former marriage, Romola Remus, and the second is Ruth Remus, the daughter he and the woman he killed had adopted. Romola stands by her father. For the other girl he apparently has little affection. He has announced that he will request the courts to set aside his adoption of her.

MRS. REMUS' BODY HERE.

The body of Mrs. Imogene Remus, who was killed by her husband, George, in Cincinnati on Thursday, arrived in Chicago yesterday and was taken to Boydston's undertaking establishment at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue. Her adopted daughter, Ruth, and other relatives accompanied the casket. No funeral arrangements were made known.

HOW TO COMBAT SOCIALISM.

Lord Selbourne, a leader of the conservative wing of the British Conservative party, wants the veto power of the house of lords restored. He does not conceal his motive. At the Conservative party conference at Cardiff he said he was afraid that the Labor party might obtain control of the commons and use its power to force socialism upon the country. He wants the house of lords as the bulwark of individualism and private property.

The trouble with Lord Selbourne's plan is that it will not suffice for long. For a few years it may preserve the rights of property and private capital, but in doing so it will so thwart, humiliate and anger labor as to threaten the house of lords itself. Men who had no sympathy with socialism would be found fighting against the obstruction of an hereditary house of peers. The history of the Tory party is full of examples of the stupidity of attempting to dam up opposition. Only too frequently the dam itself is swept away.

The British Conservative party can defeat socialism with far less risk to itself, to the British constitution and to the property of individuals. The example of the coal mines will serve. These mines are owned and operated for the most part by members of the Conservative party. The mine owners are distinguished for their arrogance in dealing with their workmen, for their recent insistence upon lowered wages, and for their reluctance to install modern machinery and methods. In these circumstances it is hardly a matter for astonishment that the British miners are insistent upon nationalization of the mines. Anything, they feel, is preferable to the present intolerable situation. In so far as the miners are socialists, the mine owners have themselves to blame.

The British have much to learn of industrial management. In the nineteenth century the world went to Britain to learn of machinery and its uses; now the world, Britain included, comes to America not only for technical knowledge but also to learn how to encourage labor to increase its output, the true basis of all prosperity. In striking contrast to the mental outlook of labor in this country, British labor lacks confidence in the ability and fairness of employers, and it is the employers who are largely to blame. Labor in England has been forced to turn to political organization and socialistic panaceas because British employers have stubbornly refused to alter the methods which made Britain a great industrial power but are now outworn.

The British Conservatives will fight socialism more effectively if they take to heart some of the lessons recently brought to them by Theodore Robinson, vice president of the Illinois Steel company, who spoke at Glasgow before the Iron and Steel institute of London in September. He cited the experience of his company, which, in 1901, had a new plant in South Chicago operating under the most approved methods then known and has maintained its relative position in the industry since then. Mr. Robinson showed how output per man has been increased in the intervening years. One workman could unload 6,000 tons of ore a year in 1902; in 1926 he could unload 48,000. One man's output of pig iron has been increased from 675 to 2,045 tons; of Bessemer ingots from 1,761 to 3,780 tons; of rails from 603 to 1,240. This has been accomplished by a more extensive use of mechanical power, by improved technique, and especially, Mr. Robinson thinks, by more willing workmen. Wages in the industry have gone up in proportion to the increase in productivity. Hours of labor have been reduced. Industrial accidents are relatively infrequent. The workmen are more contented and are not thinking of confiscation to right wrongs.

When British Conservatives look to political agencies to preserve them from harm they are making much the same mistake which the Labor party makes when it looks to political agencies to right economic wrongs. Both are asking government to save them from themselves. As democratic government in the long run can be no wiser than the men who are governed, the task must be a hopeless one.

THE CRIMINAL INCOMPETENT.

Crime, said Chauncey H. Jenkins, former director of the state department of public welfare, is sending men and women to prison faster than the state can build prisons to care for them. The new Illinois state penitentiary was completed three years ago, with a capacity of 2,500 convicts; it houses 3,000 inmates today.

Thus our failure to adopt an adequate social policy concerning the socially incompetent and the anti-social is bearing its fruit in the increased number of criminal wards of the state. It is time that we adopted a policy founded not on sentiment but on reality; not on rule of thumb but on scientific fact.

What is to become of a society that shelters and aids its incompetents at the expense of its competents? A line must be found between the savage doctrine of the destruction of the unfit and the present system by which failure to meet environment is the key to the public treasury and a life of dependency on those who are capable of supporting themselves and their families.

Of all classes of social misfits, the criminal is the very one who should fail to excite sympathy. He is, on the contrary, the very one who receives the most. Whether you judge him by the theory of freedom of will or according to a mechanistic hypothesis which says that he is the helpless object of heredity and environment, he has by his own acts declared himself outlaw.

Despite this, leniency meets him all along the line. He is turned loose by sentimental juries, or given a minimum sentence by weak judges, and in the end pardoned or paroled. He emerges not reformed, as our laws of indeterminate sentences contemplate, but schooled for a repetition of his criminal offenses. Worst of all, he emerges to reproduce others of his kind.

His successful example in evading the law is a lesson to others to follow in his criminal footsteps.

Civilization is not yet ready, perhaps, to deal justly with the entire question of its incompetent class. Nor will charity ever be unwise or bad or outgrown. Perhaps we need only to understand how to temper it with better judgment. But the formation of a policy in dealing with the criminal among the incompetent cannot be long put off. It is realism, but not cruel realism, to say that the criminal who is not a casual lawbreaker and capable of reformation must be got rid of. He must be bred out of the race. If he is not forced out, he will keep on increasing and forming more and more of a burden to the honest man who can keep within the bounds of social regulation.

EXPLOITATION AND THE EXPLOITED.

Recently published statistics show that in the last year more than $800,000,000 of foreign capital was invested in American enterprises. It is difficult, if not impossible, to estimate how much of what we think of as American resources are, in reality, the property of Europeans. The total must run into billions of dollars. Some hint of the size of foreign investments in this country was given during the war, when German owned property to the value of $500,000,000 or more was seized by the alien property custodian. At the same time Britain and France mobilized their American properties as security for loans from our bankers.

Much, though by no means all, of all this foreign owned American property was taken over by Americans during and immediately after the war, but in recent years of instability in Europe the security of investment in America has again had a powerful appeal to capital the world over. American investments appealed to British, French, Dutch, and German capital in the last century because of the high rate of return and the security of property in this country; now, though the return is much lower, the security alone brings a flood of gold to this country.

If the amount of money which has flowed from abroad into the United States had gone into some backward country like Mexico we should hear on every hand that the natives and their resources were being "exploited" by the foreigners. When foreign money exploits natural resources north of the Rio Grande it simply puts them to use; when it seeks to exploit similar resources to the south it is robbing Mexico of its priceless possessions, enslaving the population, and undermining national sovereignty. Producing riches from the soil of the United States is considered a matter of good business for all concerned and good morality, but the mere attempt to do as much for Mexico is characterized by the anti-imperialist as on a level with piracy.

It is probably true that foreign money enters the United States with hat in hand while it enters Mexico with hand on hip, fearing trouble. This difference in attitude does not derive so much from any difference in the nature of the exploiting to be done as from a difference in national thought and temperament, particularly as they are reflected in political life. Copper in the ground is copper ore in Michigan or Sonora and the investors who help get it out are doing a service to the nation in which the mine happens to be located. No nation knows that better than ours. If foreign capital had not built many thousands of miles of our railroads and otherwise advanced us industrially we should still in all probability be economically weak. Mexico is as weak as she is today because she has made it all but impossible for foreign money to enrich her. Because she has failed to assure stability to foreign investments the investors have frequently been obliged to take vigorous steps on their own behalf, as any man will do when he has advanced money in good faith only to have it threatened with seizure for no good cause.

Mexicans and their passionate friends in this country are protesting against foreign exploiters, but the cause of the difficulty is Mexican incompetence. After a hundred years of independence and attempts at self-government the Mexican people is still largely illiterate and the approach of a Mexican election is almost invariably, as at present, the signal for armed rebellion and attempts to seize power. It is no favor to the Mexican people or their rulers to assure them, as our liberals repeatedly have done, that the foreigners and not the Mexicans are primarily responsible for Mexico's troubles. Mexico will have no more difficulty with foreign investors than we have in this country if ever Mexico becomes politically stable and learns to respect contractual rights.

FIGHT FILMS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

It was not a crime to attend the Dempsey-Tunney fight. It was not a crime to listen in on the blow by blow report over the radio. It is not a crime to send pictures of the fight from Chicago to any other point, or to publish them in a newspaper or other publication. But it is a crime—a crime under federal jurisdiction—to send moving pictures of the fight to any point outside the state of Illinois.

Therein lies a delicious example of the inanity of much professional reform. Unable to stop prize fighting in many states, the reformers turned their pleas toward the federal government, as they have of late years done with increasing frequency. But they were unable to reach fighting itself. The best they ever attained, in fact, was prohibition of the shipment of moving pictures of fights in interstate commerce.

A more futile attempt to attack prize fighting could hardly be imagined, nor one based upon a more fallacious argument. This argument consisted in the assertion that there was something demoralizing in the sight of two pugilists battering each other. It included the notion that the sight of a bloody nose was injurious to the spectator. Of course, nothing could be more ridiculous. As Robert Lynd, the English essayist, pointed out recently in New Statesmen, the sight of a bloody combat could harm no normal person, because it is essentially revolting.

But the uplifters who were out to save the public from being demoralized by the vice of prize fighting could not see this. They were as devoid of intelligence as they were of respect for the rights and tastes of others. Had they been intelligent, they would have circulated films of the bloodiest fights. That might have done prize fighting some real harm in the public's eyes.

RHEUMATISM ON THE DECLINE.

THE group of diseases which go by the name of rheumatism has always afflicted man, so far as we can find out. The bones of cave dwelling beasts and men show that rheumatism was widespread among men and animals, both tame and wild, in European countries before the beginning of recorded history. The Egyptian mummies show the ravages of rheumatism. The American Indians were greatly plagued by it, and many of our healing springs were first made known to us as places to which the Indians carried their rheumatic tribesmen.

The records of the pioneer settlers of America show that they paid heavy tribute to this group of disorders, and so it has been always. A long, long road, but now it seems to be making a turn. The best opinion is that in this country at least rheumatism is on the decline.

Just seven years ago Dr. Lambert made a study of the records of Bellevue hospital to find out what was the trend of rheumatism. That study showed that the disorder was slowly decreasing. Since then other studies have been made and they confirm the Lambert conclusions. It seems that this decline began fully ten years ago. Perhaps it has not continued for the last year or two, but that break should only be temporary. One reason for the improvement is the fact that we are now studying the disease and not taking it for granted.

A recent study made by Dr. Seegal shows that in America the farther north you go the more prevalent the disease is. In Panama it is not very prevalent. Mobile, New Orleans, Dallas, and Los Angeles are not quite so fortunate. The belt which runs through Memphis and Louisville is a little worse off than the Mobile belt, but it is better off than the New York-Chicago belt, just as the New York-Chicago belt is better off than the Montreal belt.

Heat is the enemy of the rheumatic disorders, whether it be in the shape of a hot climate, hot baths, or warm clothing. The Seegal study shows that rheumatism is on the decline. British studies indicate that a cold, damp climate promotes rheumatism and, conversely, a warm, dry one tends to prevent the disorder. Other studies have shown that warm underwear is in some measure protective. We may yet return to the "semisanct" red flannels of our forbears.

But of even better promise are the closer scientific studies of the rheumatic disorders. We know much about their bacteriology and their pathology now. Some bright morning somebody will find a cure that will put the salicylates on the shelf.

MILK AS ADULT FOOD.

F. L. writes: A well known Dr. Lee, who writes for a number of health magazines, has been advocating that milk is good only for infants and young animals. That after a person has passed the nursing stage milk is absolutely of no benefit, and that is presumably what nature intended, according to this doctor's contention.

We have argued this point a number of times, and in fact a few of us have tried going without milk for a time, just to see what it would do, but we can't seem to get anywhere.

REPLY.

Milk is not a perfect food for adults. It is too poor in iron and some other minerals; it is rather low in certain vitamins; it is too strongly buffered against acids, and it is too bulky. It should not be the one and only food.

At that, it is the best single food for an adult. If such a person were so unfortunate as to be condemned to live for a long time on one food, he had better select milk.

LEMON JUICE FOR HEALTH.

A. B. C. writes: A friend of mine informs me that his wife has been drinking the juice of half a lemon every morning for a month, and that the result has been good. As a matter of fact, she says she has gained eight pounds and that she feels generally improved. Is lemon juice good for the health?

REPLY.

It is all right to drink lemon juice, especially when there is a tendency to acidosis or scurvy.

It will shock some people to read that this person is getting fat on it. Many have faith in it as a cure for obesity.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

SEPARATE YOUR GARBAGE AND ASHES.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—[Friend of the People.]—For the last year that I have lived at this address the alley at Rockwell street near Iowa street has been filled with garbage, which can be smelled for a half block. The streets in this section are not very well taken care of. S. K.

Alley complained of was thoroughly cleaned on Sept. 25. Regular service is given in this district, garbage being removed every sixth day, and ashes and rubbish every ninth day. However, we have been having difficulty in enforcing separation of garbage from other refuse. When this is brought about there should be no further cause for complaint. THOMAS H. BYRNE, Superintendent of Streets.

REMARRIAGE AFTER DIVORCE.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 5.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—After a divorce decree is granted in Illinois how soon may one remarry in the same state? A. C. K.

Immediate remarriage is permitted under the present Illinois law. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

"AND COMPANY."

Chicago, Oct. 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it valid for an individual to use the words "company" or "& company" after a firm name? 2. Is it necessary to use the words "not incorporated" after a firm name, that is, an individual proprietorship using the word company? M. M.

Sec. 220 of the Illinois criminal code provides a penalty against unincorporated associations or individuals using a corporate name, but it has been judicially construed [219 Ill., 46] not to apply to such cases as the U. S. Express company, where no fraud is intended. Nevertheless, many cautious persons use the words "not inc." after the word "company." TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

THE FISHER.

"What fer yer fishin'?"
Says I to him;
In the faint dawn light
His face looked dim.

"I'm fishin' fer shadders,
An' ghosts o' whales,
Fer pieces o' eight,
An' foretop sails."

The sun came up,
And the sea went down,
The roofs gleamed bright
In the distant town.

"What be you fishin'
Fer now, old head?"
"Right now, I'm fishin'
Fer fish," he said.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK! According to our usual custom, we will now ooze out a few words of sage advice on the subject in hand. Be early at your work, don't stay out too long at the lunch hour, don't ask for a raise or talk about what you'd like to have for Christmas. And oh, be sweet and smiling when the boss goes by. But what's the use! Even then you may be fired. However, prevent it if you can.

Yes, and Be Put in One of Bill Thompson's Jails. No, Thank You.

Dick: For your new Linebook cover—a picture of George V. of England. A picture of George seated on his solid gold blue plush throne would be nice. AN UNPREFERRED BRUNETTE.

Because the Injuns Were Always Summers Around.

R. H. L.: You've stubbed your toe; yes, you have; it isn't time for Indian summer yet. Wait, it generally begins the eighth of November. And I'll bet you don't know why the early settlers called it Indian summer? ST. GILES.

LUST FOR VICTORY! Chicago did a little lusting Saturday, and look what happened—thirteen to nothing. Go, Chicago, go, go, go! And oh, what Purdue did to Hahvahd! Probably most of the spectators in Cambridge Saturday wondered and wondered whether the Purdue players were Sioux or Cherokee, and why they didn't wear feathers in their hair and carry tomahawks. Purdue, 19; Harvard, 0. Oh, all together, now—Bully for old Purdue!

Oh, Very.

Dick: Why all the commotion about the BOOTLEGGER shooting his wife? Aren't bootleggers human? AN UNPREFERRED BRUNETTE.

Verna, Do You Want to Be Spanked?

Dick: It really is too bad about Northwestern losing the R. O. T. C. because some of the boys looked just like soldiers in their uniforms. But, anyhow, they're going to have hoop races this fall and an enormous dandelion chain next spring. VERNA.

A DOG has the same right in crossing a road as a pedestrian according to a recent ruling of the English courts. There is said to be great apprehension here among the dogs now that they've found out they have no more rights than a pedestrian.

James, We Hope You Are Right.

Dear Dick: Please convey my gratitude to Griselda. She called me an old fogy, but "when she said it, she smiled." I am content to leave my reputation in her hands, and yours. We are old, it is true. We are pre-war stuff, you and I. It is our age that makes us good. JAMES WEBER LINN.

Great Scott! Hank Is Using Rubber Type, a Bung Starter, a Funnel, and a Shoehorn Right Now.

Shelby and Richard: I don't give a hoot what you put on the outside, so stop arguing about it, but on the inside I want—I want—O Gee! Everything that Ernest Byfield, Donfarran, Duke Bakrak, Judy Shea, Leslie Spaulding, Nancy Shores, and S. L. ever wrote. And all your Paris stories, and all the letters and poems about Dinny King and Dinny's "To Him," and all of Mack Kantor's and Aborigine's things, and all your last lines—O Gee! Tell Hank to get busy and put 'em all in. TWO TON TERRIE.

THE POLICE COMMISSIONER at Washington turned down a protest against a policeman saying that an officer had the right to request a girl to cover her knees if they attracted a crowd. We've seen lots of knees during various strolls up and down Pennsylvania avenue, but we've never seen a pair yet that we thought would attract much of a crowd. But in Chicago—ah, mon petit—have you then seen the knees on that dear Boul. Mich.?

Anyhow, It's Worth Considering.

R. H. L.: Ah, at last science has explained it! Women, we're told, have shorter vocal cords than men, so they use less energy talking. Thus they can keep going long after the men are carried out unconscious. NOISY.

Oh, Absolutely.

Dick: I know which is the feminine member of that lion family. Yesterday, when I was walking past the Art institute, I heard one of the lions say, "Pretty neat figure!" And immediately the other one hissed, "Bowlegged!" I'll say I know which is the feline member of that outfit! COUNTRY COUSIN.

A SOVIETIST who had been drinking vodka in Moscow tried to blow out a match, but the flame shot along his breath to his stomach and he exploded with tremendous violence. That's one comfort about drinking bootleggers' stuff—you die before you have a chance to blow out a match.

He Wants Two Covers.

R. H. L.: Please don't put Herblock's picture on the cover, for seeing that he has a habit of making the Line twice a day it would be just like him to want his picture on the back too. DOTS.

Oh, More; Oh, Much More!!!

Dick: "Sophisticated little beasts," James Weber Linn calls us? Why not? Aren't we rather proud of it? He should be given credit for describing us so perfectly. Such sophisticated beastly young people have never existed before, but I believe we're loved just as much, if not more, for having these qualities. Don't you think so? DIANE KEITH.

"I AM NOT ALARMED at the flappers who bob and paint," said Senator Ferris, "but when we find grandma dolling herself up, then I am alarmed." And, oh, senator, if you only found grandma after she dolled up you'd be scared to death. R. H. L.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 10, 1862.

PERRYVILLE, Ky.—Bragg's rebel army attacked Gen. McCook's corps near this place yesterday and a desperate battle followed. Gen. James S. Jackson, ex-congressman from Kentucky, commanding a division, was killed. On two occasions the fighting was hand to hand. The confederates were greatly superior to the federals in numbers. Gen. McCook was heavily reinforced and the battle continued today. The fighting was mainly done by Gen. Rousseau's division.

LOUISVILLE.—A doubtful rumor says that at the close of the Perrysville battle the confederates had possession of part of the field. Gen. Sheridan [?] of Illinois is reported killed [doubtful]. Our loss is placed at 2,000 killed and wounded. The confederate loss is not ascertained.

WASHINGTON.—A court of inquiry has been ordered on Gen. Morgan, whose evacuation of Cumberland Gap is censured here.

WASHINGTON.—Complaints are again rife concerning the nonpayment of troops. Many eastern regiments have not been paid since June 1, and some of the oldest and best eastern ones not for eight months.

CAIRO.—The steamer City of Alton has arrived and reports that the federal troops are now in possession of Ripley, Miss. It is said that Rienzi is to be headquarters of the Union troops, instead of Corinth as heretofore. Gen. Oglesby, wounded at the battle of Corinth, will recover.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 10, 1902.

CHICAGO.—Montgomery Ward won his long fight for the preservation of the entire lake front for park purposes when the Supreme court of Illinois denied a rehearing in the case. The whole tract from Randolph street to Park row and from Michigan avenue to the harbor line, or breakwater, is thus secured permanently for a park, and the erection of any building in the area is prohibited.

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—Frenzied by the prospect of being discharged as a teacher in the Mennonite school near Altoona, Man., Henry I. Toews shot the three trustees, fatally wounding two of them, then entered the schoolroom and shot and fatally wounded two little daughters of one of the trustees, and shot the child of another. When driven to bay he shot himself.

NEW YORK.—There is a ray of hope for the settlement of the anthracite coal strike. Senators Quay and Penrose of Pennsylvania, Gov. Odell, and Senator Platt participated in a conference which ended at 1 o'clock this morning.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. T. J. Stewart of Pennsylvania was elected commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the annual national encampment here.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 10, 1917.

COPENHAGEN.—Vice Admiral von Capelle, German minister of marine, announced in the reichstag that a plot had been discovered in the navy to form a committee of delegates on the Russian model and to paralyze the fleet so as to force the government to make peace. The guilty parties have been arrested and have received their just deserts, the minister added.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FLANDERS.—Amid one of the most terrific hurricanes of artillery fire, the French army, coöperating with the British, won a brilliant victory which carried the troops forward a depth of half a mile along a front of about a mile stretching from Draelbank to Wydendreeft.

LONDON.—Field Marshal Haig is battering away at the Germans on the sector east and northeast of Ypres, while French troops have joined with the British left wing to the south of Dixmude. The British troops have effected the complete capture of Poelcapelle and have advanced nearly two miles to the northwest of that village in their drive in Flanders.

PEORIA.—Evidence that Jesse Barker, Peoria millionaire, whose body was found in the bathroom of his home with a bullet wound through the head, was murdered piled up with startling rapidity at the coroner's inquest.

NEW YORK.—Rain prevented the playing of the third game of the world's series between the Giants and the White Sox.

SUBURBAN JOYS.

River Forest, Ill., Oct. 6.—THE TRIBUNE'S exposé of the millionaires of Lake Forest drinking the worst water of the metropolitan region seems to have led to an energetic cleanup. Be humane enough to shock in the same way the complacency of the wealthy western suburb—River Forest. Blessed with pure water and country air, this beautiful community must daily inhale "a pestilence that taints the air"—a miasma created by the village board itself. When Mr. and Mrs. Lucre sit down with their guests at the festive board and a stealthy odor creeps in, giving the diners an inner urge to depart to the outer regions, it is not the skunk that sometimes comes around [he did two weeks ago]. It is not a stray wafting from the far distant stockyards, nor a zephyr from the nearby Des Plaines river. No, and it is not the discharge from a Chinese stink bomb. It's just the village incinerator finishing up its daily job of defiling the air of River Forest, Forest Park and Oak Park for a three-quarter mile radius in all directions, the village incinerator calmly and deliberately distributing over a lovely community its "garbage of the air" in a bluish haze that settles down, fills the beautiful homes nearby and sickens soul and body. A SUFFERER.

THE R. O. T. C. AT NORTHWESTERN.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 6.—After reading your editorial about the Northwestern University R. O. T. C., I, as a member of the naval unit of that school, strongly object to pacifism being given as a reason for the lack of enrollment in the units.

To become a member of the naval unit it is necessary to pass a most rigid physical examination; in fact, it seems that one must be almost perfect. One fellow presented himself for examination and was rejected only because of lack of molar teeth. Another fellow took the physical exam and was rejected because his right fifth toe slightly overlapped the fourth toe.

Naturally when such a rigid test must be passed it is only to be expected that a number of men will not be able to take the course. Northwestern university has long been the object of derision on the part of the newspapers and that pacifism is given as the reason for lack of interest in the two units is only another one of the gross exaggerations made by a would-be editorial writer. ### CENSORING APPLAUSE.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5.—What is needed is a board of censors to classify the various types of entertainment and prescribe the degree of applause, if any, which may be accorded each type. ## Severity Is Chic for Sports

Simplicity, severity, suitability are three requisites of smart apparel. Chic in dressing for sports is one of the fine arts of being well gowned—and such a frock as this, sketched below, developed in imported woolen material, with close set silk stitching forming a pattern on skirt and blouse, is decidedly a "find." In green or gray, $85.

SEVEN VETERANS RELIVE DAYS OF THE GREAT FIRE

Tell How They Fought Blaze in 1871.

Seven men, the youngest of them 77 and the oldest 86, met yesterday at the Great Northern hotel and relived the days and nights of horror of October, 1871, when, as members of Chicago's fire department they fought the wall of flame that destroyed a great part of the city.

There are only ten survivors of the fire fighters of that day and three of them were unable to attend the meeting. But those who were there described their experiences in vidid fashion to a hundrd or more members of the Retired Firemen's association who gathered to listen.

Nicholas Weinand, 82 years old, 1634 Larrabee street, a pipeman at the time of the great fire, was almost overcome by excitement as he recalled incidents of the disaster.

Fire Engines Even Burn.

"We were fighting the fire at Market and Lake streets," he said. "And we stayed so long that the very fire engines caught fire. The smoke was so dense that you could find your way only by means of lines. My partner and I lost the lines and very nearly lost our lives.

"The wind was strong and the weather dry. The water supply was cut off and we had to drive the engines to the river and pump up water. The air was filled with burning brands, and everywhere you looked you saw a new fire starting."

One of the spectacular incidents recalled by the old time fire fighters was the sight of a burning schooner floating down the river. The bridge tender at Chicago avenue opened the bridge to permit the schooner to float by and the boat lodged against the bridge, burning it. As a result, many persons were unable to get across the river and were killed.

Those Who Attended.

The survivors present were Fred Gund, pipeman, 77 years old, 4938 North Winchester avenue; Lawrence J. Walsh, 85 years old, South Bend, Ind., captain; Charles Schroeder, 81 years old, 2106 Fremont street, assistant engineer; George Leady, 82 years old, 5535 South Bishop street, assistant engineer; Isaac Adler, 86 years old, 7419 Paxton avenue, driver; Thomas Canty, 79 years old, 1113 West Madison street, captain, and Mr. Weinand.

The meeting was the feature of the beginning of Fire Prevention week, which is being observed throughout the United States from Oct. 9 to Oct. 16.

New $800,000 Evanston Church Holds First Service

Dedicatory services for Evanston's new $800,000 First Congregational church were held yesterday in the recently completed edifice on Hinman avenue opposite Raymond park. Dr. Ernest Graham Guthrie conducted the services. Among those in attendance were Vice President Charles G. Dawes and his family.

BULLETS HALT 3 IN AUTO.

Three youths were captured in a stolen automobile early yesterday when police bullets brought them to a halt at East 87th street and Maryland avenue. They are Edward Lundy, 22, of 6351 South Hamilton avenue; Frank Mahoney, 22, of 843 West 51st place, and Arthur Bull, 21, of 2101 West 73d street.

CHARGES JURY FIXING ADDS TO DRY LAW TERROR

Wet Leader Assails U. S. Prosecutors.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Dry law fanatics, recently having added jury fixing and jury packing to the other "horrors of dry terrorism," now have a perfect system for "railroading citizens suspected of liquor violations," according to William H. Stayton, national president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Mr. Stayton quotes reports from Lincoln, Neb., asserting that United States Attorney Aitken has addressed letters in franked envelopes of the department of justice to clergymen asking advance information on jurors who likely are to be called to sit in liquor cases.

United States Attorney Kinsler in Omaha admitted, according to Mr. Stayton, that the practice is followed generally by U. S. attorneys throughout the country.

"Thus does prohibition enforcement progress from madness to delirium," declared Mr. Stayton.

Mr. Stayton cited the conviction a day or two ago of two secret agents of the Citizens' Service association, a Washington "snooping and spying society," for perjury in a dry law case. The two agents were convicted of "framing" evidence against an innocent citizen and sentenced to jail."

Sees Prohibition Waning.

New York, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Conclusion that prohibition runs in "waves" of about ten years' duration and that the present "wave" has passed its peak and is waning, has been reached by the Moderation League, Inc., Austen G. Fox, its president, announced today.

"With the three leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination wet," said Mr. Fox, "the Republican party must run a wet in 1928 if it wants to save the votes of the industrial eastern states."

GIRL, 14, REPORTED MISSING.

Grover Lemon of 739 South Cicero avenue yesterday reported to Fillmore police that his daughter, Mary, 14, was missing. He fears she has been kidnaped.

TWO ARRAIGNED TODAY IN DEATH OF AGED DOCTOR

May's Landing, N. J., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—A plea of not guilty will be entered tomorrow by Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl and Willis H. Beach when they are arraigned on the indictment charging them with the murder of the woman's husband, Dr. William Lillendahl, and an effort will be made to procure admission to bail for both.

The arraignment will be before Supreme Court Justice Luther Campbell.

"We are ready to furnish bail in any reasonable amount," said Charles M. Phillips, Mrs. Lillendahl's attorney, "and if bail is denied we will ask that the case be set down for trial as speedily as possible."

2 KILLED, 9 HURT AS INTERURBAN STRIKES AUTO

Lorain, O., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Two dead and nine injured was the toll of a wreck at Avon Lake, seven miles east of here, today when a Lake Shore electric limited car struck an automobile, turned over on its side, and caught fire.

Nineteen passengers on the interurban were pulled out of the wreckage before the flames made any headway.

William Bates and his father-in-law, James Shepherd of Lakewood, who were riding in the automobile, were killed.

Train Kills 3 in Auto.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Three persons were killed today when their automobile was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger train at Washington Bottom.

ENGINEERS WILL DISCUSS RAILWAY AIR RIGHT ISSUE

Development of air rights above railroad tracks—a start on which is being blocked in Chicago by the Illinois Commerce commission in holding up a permit for the proposed $15,000,000 Marshall Field wholesale house above the North Western tracks—will be discussed this evening before the Western Society of Engineers.

Joshua D'Esposito, chief engineer on the new $65,000,000 union station, will be the principal speaker. He has had opportunity and reason, because of the large trackage in the central district of the union station roads, to investigate the possibilities of millions of dollars of construction of hotels, office buildings, clubs, warehouses and other skyscrapers above railroad tracks. Also he has studied the vast development of air rights in New York City.

Mr. D'Esposito said that at the meeting tonight he would discuss specific architectural and engineering problems which may be encountered in this new form of construction.

U. S. MAY HAVE CIVILIANS DIRECT NICARAGUA VOTE

New York, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—A proposal that a committee be appointed from this country to supervise the elections next year in Nicaragua instead of placing this supervision in the hands of military representatives of the United States guarding American interests there, is receiving serious consideration by the state department, according to a letter from Secretary Kellogg made public today by Representative F. H. La Guardia.

"Naturally the practical details with respect to the supervision of the registration and election have not been worked out, and can hardly be settled this far in advance," the letter said. "I may say, however, that the idea which you put forward has already suggested itself to the department and will certainly receive most serious consideration. I should be very glad to discuss the matter with you at some convenient time and give you such information as I may have."

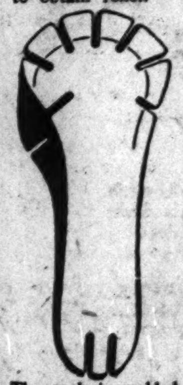
The seat of most foot troubles is in the arch. When the arch across the ball of the foot or from heel to ball weakens or breaks down, aches and pains result. Both of these arches must be supported to obtain relief.



The arch is molded to support both the arch across the ball of the foot and the arch from heel to ball.

The arch is concealed and securely fastened between the soles of Arch Shoes. It permits free, easy movement of the foot while providing the support for weak arches necessary to avoid aches and pains.

BUSINESS MEN TO VOTE ON TAX CUT OF $400,000,000

Corporation Levy Is Chief Target of Referendum.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Reduction of taxes by an aggregate of $400,000,000 is favored by the taxation committee of the chamber of commerce of the United States. The recommendation will be submitted to a referendum vote of the 1,500 organizations affiliated with the chamber.

The specific recommendations on which the members will vote are:

1. That there be immediate reduction and repeals in federal taxes to amount to $400,000,000 in the first year after the changes are made.

2. That the rate of corporate income tax applicable to net income of 1927 should not exceed 10 per cent.

3. That congress should provide full opportunity for the joint congressional tax committee to perfect proposals for revision of federal tax laws and their administration.

Where Ax Would Fall.

Besides a cut in the tax on corporation earnings from 13½ to 10 per cent the $400,000,000 reduction would include the repeal of the federal estate tax and the repeal of remaining wartime excise taxes, such as those applying to automobiles, admissions and dues.

The program goes considerably farther than is likely to be sanctioned by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon. The treasury is expected to favor a reduction in the corporation tax to probably 12 per cent and will advocate the repeal of the estate tax, but is inclined to oppose the repeal of excise taxes. Reduction of the corporation tax to 10 per cent would mean a loss of revenue amounting to about $280,000,000, while a cut to 12 per cent would result in a loss of only $120,000,000.

Cite Big Surplus.

"During the fiscal year ending last June 30 the federal government not only paid expenses, including the sinking fund of over $333,000,000 for the retirement of the national debt, but there was a surplus of over $635,000,000," the committee reports. "Analysis of the pertinent facts indicates that the reductions recommended could all be accomplished without interfering with the normal fiscal operations of the government.

"Official estimates of surpluses have been ultra-conservative," the report contends.

The report emphasizes the importance of a reduction in the tax on corporation earnings.

"We're Out to Dissolve Empire," Larkin Tells Reds

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 9.—(AP)—James Larkin, once head of the Transport Workers' union and now a member of the Dail Eireann of the Irish Free State, said in a speech today at the annual conference of the communist party here "I am out with you to bring this empire to dissolution. While we have this bayonet control of great millions within the empire there can be no war, so far as we are concerned, if the imperialists attack soviet Russia. It will not be many months after the proclamation of war before we are in action. They haven't bought the Irish workers yet."

LONDON BISHOP SEES MENACE IN U.S. HATE HYMN

Teach Children to Love Britain, He Urges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The American sings a hymn of hate against Great Britain, according to the bishop of London. In an outspoken sermon to American Legionnaires at St. Margaret's church this morning the bishop said:

"I am perfectly certain the young people in the schools of your great country are not taught to love Great Britain as they should. Indeed, I have been assured by young men with whom I have conversed that they have been taught to hate this country. From the viewpoint of both countries this is a most serious thing and must be taken in hand."

Denies Desire to Rule World.

The bishop urged the dispelling of the misunderstandings between the two peoples.

"It should not be thought in America that because England wants a certain number of cruisers she therefore wants to dominate the world," he said. "On the other hand, the idea that any one might hold in England that America wanted to swallow up Canada would be just about as ridiculous."

Guests of Admiral Beatty.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—American Legionnaires to the number of 250 were the guests today of Admiral Earl Beatty and Countess Beatty at their beautiful home, the Priory Reigate. Countess Beatty was formerly Miss Ethel Field, daughter of the late Marshall Field of Chicago.

Ambassador Houghton and Mrs. Houghton assisted in receiving the guests, while among those present was Lady Spencer Churchill, head of the women's section of the Interallied Federation of ex-Combatants.

The eighth annual convention of this federation was held in London today, American and other delegates attending. Commander Nicola San Sanselli of Naples was appointed president of the federation for 1928.

EX-KAISER VIEWS HIS FATE AS THE DECREE OF GOD

New York, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Although he is not certain what is expected of him, the former kaiser of German is comforted in his exile at Doorn, Holland, in the belief that he is now doing his service to God, according to an article in tomorrow's issue of the magazine Liberty.

George Sylvester Viereck, recounting an interview with the former emperor, quotes him as saying that he reigned according to God's will, by which he was in turn dethroned. If the Almighty decrees that he shall reign again he will reign as a duty to God.

In answer to why Germany lost the war the former ruler said:

"Because we did not obey God in all things; because we hesitated to bear the worst. The German people performed miracles of endurance, but the supreme miracle can be accomplished only by faith. We should have fought to the very last carrot, the very last man, the very last round of munitions."

"Life," he was further quoted, "still holds many pleasures for me."

A. F. L. SEEKS TO ENROLL CHICAGO TEACHER UNIONS

Rival to Miss Haley's Group Threatened.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Los Angels, Cal., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Upon the return of Chicago delegates from the annual American Federation of Labor convention here, the Chicago and Illinois state units will begin a campaign either to absorb the Chicago Teachers' federation into the American Federation of Labor or to enroll a union rivaling Miss Margaret Haley's.

At present there are three unions of Chicago school teachers. Two of them are small bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The third is the C. T. F., which, under the presidency of Miss Margaret Haley, has had a history of twenty-five years and is far more influential than the two Chicago A. F. L. locals. Miss Haley's organization once was a member of the A. F. L., but has passed nine years outside the federation fold.

According to the plan outlined Miss Haley will be invited to affiliate her organization with the A. F. L. by applying for a charter with American Teachers' federation.

If the Chicago Teachers' federation does not accept the overture, organized labor, it is said, will at once begin organizing a rival union.

FIND POLICEMAN SHOT; BELIEVE HE TRIED SUICIDE

George W. Devoe, 38 years old, a policeman attached to the Chicago Lawn station, was found shot in the head in his home yesterday morning. He told a story of being attacked by robbers in an alley in the rear of his home, but it is believed that he attempted to commit suicide.

Devoe reported for duty intoxicated on Friday night and was ordered suspended, police said. He went to his home at 3144 West 43d street and was found there by Sergt. Peter Polcaster and a squad who were to serve him with the suspension papers. He was sitting in a chair and his revolver, with one shot fired, was lying nearby. His wife was away on a visit, he said.

6,000 Women to Tag Today for Children

"Open your hearts to Chicago's own," is the plea today as the Chicago Children's Benefit league open their twentieth annual tag day to benefit orphans and uncared-for children. Six thousand women have volunteered their services as taggers today to work in the loop, the outlying business and residential sections of the city, and in the suburbs.

Mrs. William R. Tucker of Evanston is president of the league. She will be assisted by her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Tucker.

Yesterday a proclamation was issued by Mayor William Hale Thompson, which reads: "Whereas, one day in each year is set aside as a tag day, on which day representatives of established children's charities collect money under the auspices of the Chicago Children's Benefit league, I urge all citizens to contribute generously thereto."

A goal of $150,000 has been set for the drive.

500 MILLION DOLLARS

This startling sum is America's annual fire bill. It does not take into account the cost of maintaining fire departments nor the tremendous loss of wages and profits through halting of business—many millions more.

The fire loss keeps mounting up—ever up—because we are failing to take precautionary measures against fire. Matches and "smokes" are thrown aside—still lighted. Chimneys and flues become dangerous—through neglect. And rubbish is allowed to accumulate.

See today that these common fire hazards are not threatening your home and business.

For in this age of inter-dependence, fire losses affect everyone, and each individual has a definite responsibility. Do your part by exercising ordinary caution and the enormous yearly losses will start to tumble.

LOCATION
A Primary Consideration in Selecting a Business Home

A SUPERIOR location is all-important to business institutions. An address that is indicative of success and stability, an environment of conservatism, association with established organizations—these factors, among others, are weighed when selecting a business home.

Mature judgment, therefore, prizes highly the right location—in itself a substantial asset. The State Bank Building, La Salle and Monroe Streets, apart from its central location and ready accessibility from all city, suburban and national transportation systems, will offer every modern convenience in keeping with the standards of an office building of the highest character.

WOMEN!

A new formula has brought absolute immunity from the pain most women dread.

There should be authority for such a statement, and there is. Medical men from coast to coast have commended the feminex formula. They concede it to be correctional. They know it is non-narcotic. And thousands of women and girls can testify that it is a complete and perfect solution to all suffering at such time.

Feminex does nothing to the normal function of the organs. If you have no pains don't take it. But if such times are painful, be sensible; feminex will end the pain.

The price of feminex is a quarter. It would be hard to find a druggist who does not keep it. Don't ignore a discovery that means so much.

BOMBERS SOUGHT AFTER FIVE DIE IN NEW YORK BLAST

Revenge or Anarchy Is Held as Motive.

New York, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—The bomb found in the ruins of a West 35th street tenement early today, after an explosion had killed five persons and injured eleven others, contained six and a half pounds of dynamite and was of the same construction as the unexploded infernal machine found in July in the East river tunnel of the Interborough subway.

Although the police, in making this known, admitted they were without other clews to trace to a single source the river bomb, and possibly the bombs that were set off in the 28th street stations of both subway systems, they expressed the conviction that the two young Italians sought for the tenement house blast had been expert makers of explosive weapons and that their room in the house had been a bomb workshop.

While the eleven injured persons, including nine children, were getting on well today, the detectives expressed two theories to account for the blast. One was that the bomb had been private vengeance against Andrew J. Coviello, whose wife owns the front and rear tenements at the 35th street address.

The second theory was that the men were anarchists planning a campaign of terrorism and using the tenement as a place where bombmaking might go on undetected or suspected indefinitely.

Palm Beach Anglers Invite Coolidge to Go Fishing

Palm Beach, Fla., Oct. 9.—(AP)—President Coolidge will be invited by the Palm Beach Anglers' club, an organization of society fishermen of which the late President Harding was an honorary member, to include a two day stop in Palm Beach as part of his proposed trip to Cuba early in January. Should Mr. Coolidge accept the invitation a special sail fishing expedition will be arranged.

FOILS EFFORT OF BANDITS TO ROB CEMETERY OFFICE

Two robbers who entered Graceland cemetery in the early hours of yesterday morning to rob the offices at Clark street and Irving Park boulevard encountered more than the brooding silence of the graveyard that they expected. They ran smack into John Anderson, 60, a stalwart grave digger, who first grappled with them and bested them with his fists, and then fired at them as they ran.

One of the men stumbled and dropped a .38 caliber revolver as he ran and Anderson told the police he believed one of his shots took effect on him. Detectives were checking hospitals and attempting to trace the revolver through its number.

The Portrait Invisible

BY JOSEPH GOLLOMB

SYNOPSIS.

Corcoran, owner of a New York gambling house, and two crooks, Slim and Butch, greet a frequent visitor, known as The Goldfish. They accuse him of being a stool pigeon, because he is often in the courtroom of Judge Robert Craigin, who is severe with criminals. The Goldfish denies the charges, turns the tables by revealing he "has the goods" on them, and dismisses them with an ultimatum they are to be always at his command.

On the following Monday Judge Craigin does not appear for the opening of a famous trial. His younger brother, Bruce, known as the prodigy judge, bitterly resents a detective's suggestion that there may be a woman in the case, even when it is hinted she may be avenging a husband or brother for a harsh sentence, since the elder Craigin has never tempered justice with mercy.

Francis Galt, whom Bruce knew in college as The Goldfish, a student of psychoanalysis, begins work on the case. Police find the murdered body of Robert Craigin in a suburban cottage, the tenant of which is said to be a young woman named Kate Randall. The Goldfish announces he is going to live in the house in order to study the character of the suspected missing woman by observing her books and other details of her home. Bruce urges that the investigation be pushed, even though he has begun to fear it will involve his brother in scandal. He offers a reward of $20,000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

POISON.

Most of the letters from those who claimed to have seen the missing Kate Randall were addressed directly to Judge Bruce Craigin. This gave his secretary, Jane Simmons, a heavy addition to the burden of work she had already assumed. It was, however, largely her own choice and fault. Seeing how worn Bruce looked, she wore herself to the bone to help him in every way she could.

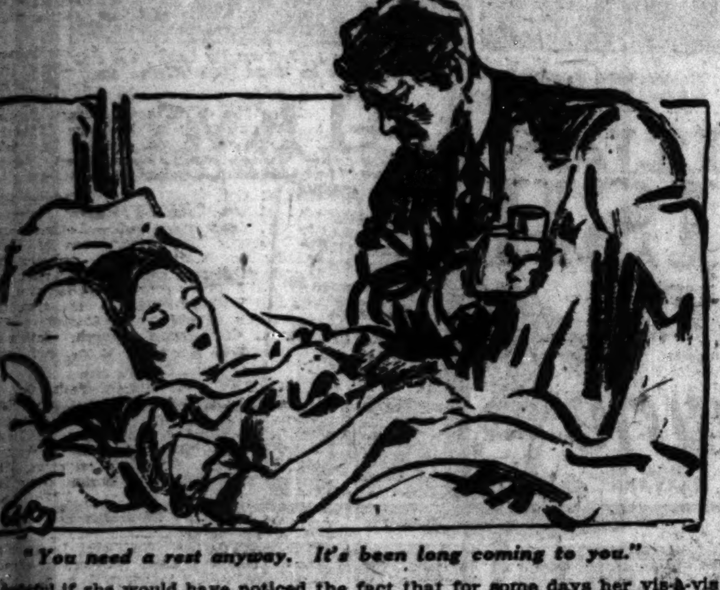
She took it upon herself to read every one of the hundreds of letters that came; to sift out those that Bruce might want to see before passing them on to the police, and to reply to what intelligent queries were contained in them.

Part of this fever of work was due to a certain cruel eagerness in her, the distorted aspect of her starved womanhood, an unacknowleged jealousy of another woman who had evidently seized life with both hands and dealt with it according to her will instead of letting it have its will with her, as life did with Jane Simmons.

As a result of this added work, Jane even stinted herself relaxation at lunch. If Bruce did not insist on it, she would not have gone out at noon. As it was, she took an hour's worth of work along with her to the little restaurant where she used to give herself a grudging half hour at lunch.

There, at a corner table she always chose, she would eat, absent-mindedly, with her eyes and her whole mind on the letters she had brought along or on the abstracts she was doing.

It was not surprising, therefore, that she should little notice those who occasionally sat at her table. Even if she were less absorbed in her work, it is doubtful if she would have noticed the fact that for some days her vis-à-vis was the same young woman.



"You need a rest anyway. It's been long coming to you."

She was quietly dressed in blue and was quiet in demeanor. Her hair, of an indefinite reddish hue, was cut short in the prevailing "bob." Her look was vaguely veiled with thought, her eyes drooped.

But from under their lids she kept a covert watch of Jane Simmons as she sat opposite at lunch. When Jane was deep in her work, the woman watched her movements as she mechanically ate. When Jane seemed about to look up the woman dropped her gaze.

On the fifth day of this study Jane took her usual table in a corner half hidden by a pillar. She had brought along a complicated brief, of which she had to make an abstract for Bruce. She propped it against the metal napkin holder in the center of the table and studied it as she ate. When she wanted a knife, fork, or spoon or salt shaker, she groped for it without looking, and if her hand found it in the accustomed place she did not even glance up.

Her vis-à-vis saw her become finally so absorbed in her work that Jane stopped eating. At this point the stranger quietly reached and took up the salt shaker. A little she sprinkled on the edge of her plate.

But instead of returning it to its place, she drew it to her until she had brought it below the level of the table top. In her lap she had her handbag. From it, while she ate with her left hand, she drew out another salt shaker, a duplicate of the one in her lap.

It was half full of what appeared to be salt. Putting the shaker she had taken from the table into her handbag, she replaced it with the one she had brought. Then her eyes fastened on Jane. At that moment they were remarkable eyes. Stealth and fear, fight and flight, were mingled in their look.

Then Jane looked up at her. The other did not know that Jane saw nothing but a cloud of legal abstractions before her. To her vis-à-vis, Jane had the look of an accuser. And a sort of feline tension showed in the woman as she quietly pushed back her chair.

But Jane only reached mechanically for the salt shaker, and as she took hold of it her eyes went back to her work. Absently she sprinkled some of the contents of the shaker on her food and went on eating and working at the same time.

The other woman resumed eating, too; but her eyes never let up in their covert watch of Jane. When she saw her about ready to rise and leave the table, she herself rose and preceded her to the cashier's desk. When Jane left the restaurant the young woman was only a few steps ahead.

The instant the sharp air of the street struck her, Jane felt a vertigo seize her. Dizzy and confused, she put out her hand for some support. It encountered another hand, a woman's. A woman's voice was in her ear.

"Shall I take your arm? You look faint."

"I—I—don't know what's the matter!" she stammered.

"Here's a taxi. Which way are you going? I'll be very glad to take you."

"Criminal Courts building—Judge Bruce Craigin's office——"

A shudder went through her. It was all so alarming and inexplicable, this vast distress that had suddenly seized her, that Jane surrendered to the stranger's kindness and let herself be assisted into a taxicab.

Through a whirling blur she felt the cab speed and turn. The steps of the Criminal Courts building seemed endless to her that day. She scarcely recognized the familiar voices of Aggie, the telephone operator, and Tucker, the elevator runner, solicitous with questions. Only the voice of the woman who was helping her sounded clear.

"No, thank you. I'll see her up myself."

Bruce Craigin had come back from lunch that day earlier than usual, and he was waiting for the abstract on which Jane was working. That morning Jane had kept from him the day's usual collection of letters bearing on the hunt for his brother. He stepped into her room to see if she had returned from lunch.

At that moment the door from the corridor was thrown open with a haste uncharacteristic of the usually magisterial attendant, Charlie; yet it was Charlie who held it open. Then Bruce saw in the doorway Jane Simmons, obviously ill and supported on the arm of some stranger, a young woman.

"Why, what's the matter, Jane?" he exclaimed, hurrying forward.

She was so little able to speak for herself that the question was addressed really at the stranger, although his eyes were on Jane.

"I don't think she knows herself," she said. "I was behind her on Center street when I saw her turn faint and brought her here."

Bruce helped Jane into his own room and made her lie down on his couch while Charlie brought a glass of water. A paroxysm was shaking Jane's frame. The gulp of water Bruce made her swallow seemed to make things only worse.

"Telephone down for the doctor, Charlie," Bruce ordered.

The doctor came in a few minutes. He gave Jane a quick glance. "Looks like ptomaine poisoning," he said, "but——"

He went over the symptoms more thoroughly. "Hm, it's something she ate, all right." He turned to Bruce. "Better telephone to the Caroline hospital for an ambulance. I'd like to have her under observation——"

Even through the vertigo Jane heard him. She sat up and shrilled, "I can't go to a hospital! I've got work to do! I've got that abstract to finish!"

Bruce turned to Charlie and with a whisper told him to follow the doctor's directions. Charlie went into Jane's room to telephone. Bruce took Jane's hand and made her lie down again.

"I'll get Leeds to do your work until you come back," he said gently. "You need a rest, anyway. It's been long coming to you."

"Haven't got time to be ill; haven't got time to take a rest!" she sobbed.

"Look here, Jane; hitherto you've been doing all the bullying. Now that you're down, I'll take advantage of it. When you've recovered from this attack of yours, whatever it is, you're going to Lakewood or Atlantic City and get the vacation I've been trying to induce you to take. And we'll have no argument, please!"

She pushed his hand away and dizzily rose to her feet.

"You're trying to get rid of me." Literally and actually she felt her world grow unstable under her. "You don't like my work! You want to put some one in my place!"

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Hoot mon—and other light Scotch expressions conveying enthusiasm [as Mr. William Austin in "Swim, Girl, Swim" would say], Hoot mon! But this "Annie Laurie" is a bonnie picture!

It is a costume picture of course, its story being of the days of the historic massacre at Glencoe. The days of which the poet sang so tenderly. The days when he found Maxwelton's braes so exceedingly bonnie and Annie Laurie so overpoweringly sweet.

Here you have the braes quite as lovely as if they had been photographed in Scotland instead of California, and Annie Laurie as winsome as ever a song could sing, being loved by a Highland laddie, who thinks her a coward and not worth deeing for until bonnie Annie up and proves herself as something quite different.

The picture clangs and flames with the feudal battles of the Campbells and MacDonalds, and Annie, at Maxwelton, between the warring strongholds, is the best friend of the Campbell daughter, the desired of Enid's brother and—she gives her heart because she canna help hersel', to Ian, the eldest son of the house of MacDonald. AND—so she becomes greatly mixed up in all the affairs of the twa clans.

Photographically, "Annie Laurie" is a gorgeous thing. It has some beautiful, beautiful shots! There are scenes in autumn woods with the crisp leaves blowing where you can fairly feel and smell and hear the wind.

Miss Gish brings to this heroine her own peculiar, elusive, unfleshly charm which makes her an excellent foil for the dashing, ardent and earthy MacDonald as portrayed by Norman Kerry. The two are well supported, and the direction is intelligent and sympathetic. And always, inside feudal castles, or outside, on banks and braes and mountain passes, there is a feast for the eyes.

CLOSEUPS

The press agent of Tiffany speeds us the news that "Archduke Leopold of Austria has been engaged for the rôle of chief of detectives in the production of 'Night Life' being made under the direction of George Archainbaud." Hola! Hola!

Rumor is that Fox intends to produce soon some full length talking films. It is thought that "The Dollar Princess," for which picture rights were recently procured by the company, will be the first. Murnau will probably direct and George O'Brien be the star. Mr. O'Brien, and possibly some of the other principals, will speak the sequences in the story through movietone, thus doing away, to some extent, with captions and titles.

"Publicity Madness" Gay and Entertaining Film

Produced by Fox.
Directed by Albert Ray.
Presented at the Majestic Theater.

THE CAST.

| | |
|---|---|
| Violet Henly | Lois Moran |

That a good man can't be kept down, is proved literally as well as figuratively speaking, by Edmund Lowe in "Publicity Madness."

Perhaps the freshest thing in a world of fresh salesman, he's fired by one soap concern, to burst into the inhospitable portals of another, bringing to the management thereof complete consternation that resolves itself into unlimited wealth. He steps blithely over and on all obstacles, gathering as he passes, one fair flower—the heart of the daughter of the president of the concern he makes famous.

"Publicity Madness" is gayly irresponsible and asks nothing of you but that you have a good time watching it. This you can do with no trouble at all, for its players are skillful and the director apt.

What matter, then, if you forget it five minutes after you've seen it?

See you tomorrow!

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. L. A. Sterne, 587 47th street, Milwaukee, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you ever wish you were a man?

The Answers.

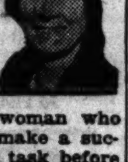
Miss Mary Gatzek, 3309 West End avenue—Many, many times. A man has every advantage over a woman, I don't care what it is. Socially, women are about even with men. But in the business world, in the world of affairs in general, men have pre-eminently the better of it all around. They have access everywhere; in short, it is man's world.

Miss Charlotte Klein, 1908 Chase avenue, accountant—Yes, sometimes, though I hardly know why. Men don't carry the responsibilities that women do. Men wear one or two suits of clothes a year; women are always figuring out the problem of clothes. Men are leaders, and women are only followers.

Miss Gertrude Whitfield, 2704 North Mason avenue, typist—I wouldn't be a man if I could. I would have to be a glutton for punishment to cherish that ambition. But if I were a man I assure you that at all times, under all circumstances, and in every way I would so conduct myself that I would win and maintain the admiration of women.

Miss Ruth Anna Cozzi, 4524 North Francisco avenue, bookkeeper — I have wished so lots of times. When I was quite young I had to play around with boys, for I had no sisters. I used to be a regular tomboy. I didn't miss any of the fun that boys had. But now, I am glad I am a woman. I am more of a home lover now than I was then.



Mrs. Paul B. Coats, 703 Harper avenue, business woman—Yes. My experience is that men do not seem to realize that women of the business world are to be taken seriously. Women may travel with the same comfort and ease of men; but taking it all in all the woman who wishes to progress, lead, make a success, has a more difficult task before her than has a man.

Marion Talley Reveals Broad, Lovely Voice

Her Songs Range from Excellent to Bad.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Marion Talley's recital at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon was her first here, her only other appearance hereabouts having been when she went in at short notice one night at Ravinia during the summer. Recitals and opera performances are different things; this of Miss Talley's was especially interesting because it emphasized both the good and less good of what had been noticed in her Ravinia appearance.

She has an uncommonly lovely voice. It is warm and young and broad, and considerably darker in color than that of any other coloratura soprano in memory. In fact, with its color and with the fact that high notes cause her evident preoccupation, it is just a bit surprising that she turned into the coloratura branch of singing at all.

Her songs covered a wide range, from excellent, like the aria from Mozart's "The Magic Flute," to something unbelievably bad, like Bishop's "Pretty Mocking Bird." This latter is as appalling an opus as ever appeared on a program. For once I have heard a worse piece of music than the Mad Scene from "Lucia." Display songs were sung with neat agility in the lovely tone that is Miss Talley's; sentimental songs were assisted in their sentimentality by the world's record in long and continuous scooping; a good part of the program was in English which was generally understandable.

She was assisted by John Corigliano, who has so many of the expert violinist's resources at his command that it would be worth while hearing him in a full length program of his own.

At the same hour of Miss Talley's assignment another coloratura, Marie Bronarzyk, was appearing as co-star with the Russian Cossack chorus at the Studebaker. Miss Bronarzyk sounds as though one of these days she will be making a name for herself. She is still young, too young to have arrived at the full development and complete flexibility of her voice, but it is a real voice and a lovely one.

The Cossack chorus numbers twelve, counting the conductor, Sergei Sokoloff. They are a picturesque lot, clad in long boots, high white stocks, and coats that would seem to be the direct ancestors of the Prince Albert of another generation. They sing like many another Russian chorus, basses that dig down to incredible sub-base depths, tenors that sound not at all like conventionally trained tenors, the whole with many modifications of volume and pace that create fascinating effects.

Andre Skalski, who is new on the concert stage here, appeared in a piano recital at the Playhouse. From the pianist's standpoint, he is first class, with brains, good tone, and excellent command of the keyboard. It was the fate following those who have to hear various simultaneous musical events that brought me to the Playhouse in time to hear some uncommonly dull music, "Schubert's Impromptu in B flat for one. Other parts of the program looked better.

THEATER

"THE RAMBLERS":

Song-and-dance piece, in two acts, by Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby, and Guy Bolton; made known in Chicago (by Philip Goodman) October 9, 1927, in the Garrick Theater, with this cast:

| | |
|---|---|
| Cunningham | Bobby Clark |
| Sparrow | Paul McCullough |
| Ruth, in films | Marie Saxon |
| Roche, in films | Sam Critcherson |
| Shannon, his double | Billy Taylor |
| Farnham, in films | Harry Miller |
| Jenny, his fiancée | Ruth Tester |
| Fanny, who backs films | Georgia O'Ramey |
| Black Pedro | W. E. Browning |
| Pancho, his pal | Horton Spurr |
| Anita, their decoy | Nitta Jacques |

THE new nonsense in the Garrick is largely a matter of Mr. Clark; and, the world and the "book" and the music being what they are, it is good to have Mr. Clark about. He is come along quickly, as such things come along: an eminent impresario of London cabled me in 1921 to have a look at him and Mr. McCullough in a burlesque-show of which they were the black-type fellows in New-York; and I found Mr. Clark so hard and his team-mate so negative that I took joy in paying for extra words to make my adverse report eloquent. Mr. Clark, six years later, is so funny in "The Ramblers" that I glow with a fresh happiness in remembrance of that cabled knock; for, had he gone to London then, he probably would have made a hit: London was a sad place in 1921, and ready to laugh at anything. And American comics who make a hit in London either remain there until death or come back, after four or five years, and bore us stiff: the toughest ordeal the theater of this land has to offer is a native clown gone Cockney.

This Mr. Clark is funny: so funny that he would be none the less so if he were to bill himself as Robert. He is brash, bold, unashamed, careless, obvious (some of the time), and ribald; but he is funny. He knows more now than he seemed to know when here two years ago in an issue of the Music-Box Revue, just as he seemed then to know more than he had hinted at when here two years earlier in another issue. He is easier, smoother, more fluent: just as eager and just as ready as before, but with a regard for spacing and pace and timing, and with a successful dependence on inflection when speaking a line with point to it. He suggests, as he finds his way through what is left of whatever Mr. Bolton tried to write, all the other buffoons of our stage, and is like none of them. And he is so spirited, alive, and infectious in his fun-making that he is able to elicit laughter with stuff older than he, himself, is. . . .

As to Mr. McCullough, I don't know: it is well to be careful when trying to estimate these question-askers of the "teams." We used to wonder why Mr. Fields bothered with Mr. Weber, and Mr. Bulger with Mr. Mathews, and Mr. Stone with Mr. Montgomery; and we found out when Mr. Fields and Mr. Bulger and Mr. Stone, each in turn, were left to go it alone. So, let's assume that Mr. Clark knows what he is doing, and that he and Mr. McCullough are an entity.

Of the others, Miss Saxon is a lovely blonde wisp of a graceful dancer; Miss O'Ramey is as amusing as her chore in the show permits; there are men and women who hoof well; and Miss Norma Gallo makes a bit of a hit for herself, in some rhythmic acrobatics and a brassière. . . . Of course, there's the story: 'tis about a girl who wishes to go into films, goes in, makes good, and is abducted by Mexicans, so that she may be rescued by Clark and McCullough in time to take part in the movie-ball finale. . . . Yes: that's it.

All of which is to say that Mr. Clark is funny, and that you ought to see him.

News-Notes of the Stage.

The Theater Guild of New-York is to remain in the Studebaker until November 12: the 5th has been advertised as the date of the final performance. "The Doctor's Dilemma," to be staged the 31st instant, will be the bill for the eighth week, also.

Mr. Newman, the travel-talker, starts his Chicago series Wednesday night, in Orchestra Hall, with information and pictures about Moscow.

An unexpected opening this week is that left by the ad-writer for "Chicago," in asking Sunday in big type: "What is a mattoid?" F. D.

Children of 17 Nations to Be Guests at Party

Fifty children, representing seventeen different countries, garbed in the costume of their fatherlands, will be guests at the first annual "Children of All Nations" party at the Hotel Belmont, Sheridan road and Belmont avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Flags of all the nations of the world will provide a background for dances native to the various European countries. American flags will be used as souvenirs.

Gas Declared Chief Fuel Now of Home Fires

And It Will Cool House Next, Experts Say.

"Gas has come out of the kitchen. It is taking on the entire job of keeping the home fires burning, and ranges the highways and byways for the larger tasks of commerce and industry."

This estimate of the growth and development of the gas industry which is to be considered this week in Chicago at the gathering of the membership of the American Gas association at the Stevens hotel was voiced yesterday by B. J. Mullaney, vice president of the People's Gas Light and Coke company.

Mr. Mullaney's view is one of a number of public statements from executive heads of the country's public utilities heads, commenting on the present condition and future prospects of the industry, made public by Alexander B. Macbeth of Los Angeles, president of the association.

The statements will be discussed as the basis for financing and other operations for the coming year at the ninth annual convention and exhibition which opens today.

"In the home," Mr. Mullaney continued, "besides cooking it does anything and everything from heating a cupful or a bathtub full of water to incinerating the household wastes, warming the garage, running the refrigerator and heating the whole house, as well as cooling the house in summer as a possibility.

"In shop and factory its versatility reaches from tempering watch springs to making brick and heat treating operations of heavy manufacturing.

"Conversion of crude fuels into gas and useful by-products is true conservation of natural resources. Gas is fundamentally the economically sound heating agent, with collateral merits which cover the whole gamut of economy and efficiency.

"Gas production plants today are large scale laboratories manned by skilled workers and captained by professionally trained engineers and chemists. Gas company officers are now dominated by the scientific study and application of commercial and industrial economics and social science."

According to S. T. Bodine of Philadelphia, "the use of gas for industrial purposes is rapidly increasing; in fact, American industry relies upon the gas utility."

Almost without exception the statements gathered comment on the recent consolidation of the natural gas association with the American Gas association, which brings into one national organization all elements of the gas industry in North America, with present sales of more than one and a half trillion of cubic feet of gas to approximately 71,000,000 persons annually.

Chicago this week also will be host to the Illuminating Engineering society, which will hold its twenty-first annual convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Speakers will include H. P. MacCracken, former Chicago attorney, now assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aviation; Dr. W. T. Bovie of Harvard university; Dr. M. Luckiest of Cleveland, in charge of the government's camouflage work during the war, and W. D. Darby Ryan, who designed the illumination of Niagara falls.

. . . From the far corners of the earth and from factories right at home, Chicago merchants offer through Tribune advertising pages a thousand and one things to make your life easier, happier and more beautiful.
No need to journey across the world to the queer little shops of Bagdad or the bazaars of Singapore.
The Tribune brings them to your door.
Read the advertisements in The Tribune! You'll find them the best shopping guide because practically every Chicago merchant advertises in The Tribune. Many of them advertise only in The Tribune.

British Artist Here Painting Portraits of Younger Ryersons

BY NANCY R——.

The Edward L. Ryerson's are much occupied just now seeing to the completion of their fine gallery of family portraits, and have as their guest the distinguished English painter, Frank O. Salisbury.

Mr. Salisbury, who has painted the royal family of England and several well known historical portraits, has arranged a studio for his present work at the end of the light, wide entrance hall in the senior Ryerson's country place in Lake Forest and is putting the finishing touches to the last two portraits in the group, those of Donald Ryerson and Edward L. Ryerson Jr. He did the elder Mr. Ryerson about six months ago.

The artist is portraying these two young men in quite different poses, the former standing in hunting togs against a landscape which contains a blue lake, the latter seated, with a particularly harmonious indoor background. As the Ryersons already have excellent portraits of themselves, of their daughter, Mrs. Donald Frost, and of their other son, Joseph T. Ryerson, this pair of paintings will complete their collection.

It was a beautiful full moon evening when, night before last out in Lake Forest, the John T. McCutcheons held their annual bonfire festival. Each autumn they invite a group of their friends and their friends' children to this delightful little ceremony "down in the meadow," on Mrs. Howard Shaw's estate and although it usually takes place toward the end of October, they had it on Saturday because they are moving into their town abode a fortnight ahead of time this year.

Day's News in Society

The fall exodus from Lake Geneva has set in and windows are being shuttered and motor boats pulleyed up into the boathouses for the winter. Mrs. Edward E. Ayer and her daughter, Mrs. Frank S. Johnson, came into town on Saturday. Mrs. Johnson departs today for Pasadena, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Rehm and their daughter, Miss Louise Rehm, and Mr. and Mrs. Armin Brand are to close All View this week and will motor to New York City and Washington, D. C. The Rehms will later go abroad, and Mr. and Mrs. Brand are to spend the winter in California.

Mr. and Mrs. James Offield, who have been at the lodge of Green Gables, the William Wrigley Jr. estate, have departed for a brief trip to New York and Washington, and will only spend week-ends in the country on their return. Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley have been week-ending it at Hill Croft, the place they recently purchased from Arthur Leath.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wacker and the William Nelson Pelouzes are planning to keep their respective places open until the last of this month, if the weather continues to be favorable. The John J. Mitchells are also planning to spend Indian summer at their Ceylon Court. Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener will be at Black Point for another fortnight, and the Tracy Drakes will be at Aloha Lodge until after Oct. 16. The Otto L. Schmidts have returned to their residence at 1547 Dearborn parkway, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay are to remain for another week.

The Arts club has issued announcements for the opening on Friday afternoon of an exhibition of plans and drawings by students of the post-graduate institute of architecture and landscape architecture, whose session has just closed at Lake Forest. Tea is to be served, and members may bring guests.

Mrs. Stanley Morrill has been elected president of the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids for the coming season. The other officers are Mrs. Roland Boswell, first vice president; Miss Mary Louise Fenton, second vice president; Mrs. Warren Hines Clarke, recording secretary; Mrs. Dorsey Montgomery, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. B. Botsford Young, treasurer. Mrs. John B. Drake Jr. and Mrs. Herbert Kennedy compose the advisory board.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is to have Prince William of Sweden as her box guest at the opening of the races at Arlington on Thursday. Mrs. McCormick bid in her box at $1,000 at the auction held for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald T. Naugle are to depart on Oct. 27 for New York City and will sail on Nov. 1 for Naples. They plan to be abroad for the winter, and will spend the holidays at Cairo, Egypt.

Mrs. Enos M. Barton of Hubbard Woods has returned from a stay of several months abroad. She was present at the marriage in Florence, Italy, of Miss Andreina Materassi to her son, Malcolm Barton. Young Mr. and Mrs. Barton have also returned to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Downs of Washington, D. C., who have been visiting Mrs. Downs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Crerar, have sailed for England where they plan to spend the winter.

Thousands of tickets have been sold and nearly all the boxes disposed of for the benefit ball to be given at the Aragon ballroom tonight by Ladies of Isabella, and more than 1,000 well known Chicagoans are on the list of patrons and boxholders for the event which is to add several thousands to the maintenance fund of the House of the Good Shepherd. This institution at 1126 Grace street is now caring for 700 young girls, and with proceeds from the ball will increase its facilities and equipment. Mrs. John Wall is general chairman of the affair and among its sponsors are Philip K. Wrigley, Samuel Insull, Mrs. Lysander Hill, Edward Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Crowley, Mrs. Edward Hines, Charles J. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dever, and Mr. and Mrs. Boetius Sullivan. In addition to the dancing there will be cards and a musical program.

If You're Not Really Hungry, Give Your Stomach a Holiday

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If one ate only when one was hungry there wouldn't be half the battle that is going on to get back the youthful figure.

One is not recommended to go without a number of meals in succession because one's appetite is off. But a meal missed doesn't do the body any harm.

If your appetite is not sharp before any meal, eat lightly.

Most of us have gotten into habits about eating. Regular hours for meals, of course, is a good habit. But we eat three or four courses. Often we just keep on eating because the others at the table are doing it, piling dessert on a perfectly full meal preceding it. It is these extras that are eaten without the zest and enjoyment of an appetite craving food that pile up the superfluous weight.

With the bridge season now in full swing, and the bridge chairs and apartments they occupy not growing any wider in dimensions, the in-between eating has to be taken into consideration in the day's calories allotment. It would be too much to expect a woman not to partake of the refreshment served. But when the dinner hour arrives, the sweets, sandwiches, salads, or whatever one ate ought to be remembered and a corresponding amount of food eliminated from the later meal.

One woman complains that her husband gets peeved if she doesn't eat right along with him through the entire dinner. She figures that if feelings have to be hurt it is better to let the tea or bridge hostess suffer than the gentleman who makes it possible for her to have leisure enough for the afternoon entertainment.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ranken Patton of Philadelphia have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Florence Humphreys, and Osborne Rensellaer Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Samuel Roberts of 5702 Blackstone avenue, on Oct. 26 at the Overbrook Presbyterian church in Philadelphia.

Eugene Maling of 555 Roscoe street announces the marriage of his daughter, Lydia, to M. Louis Kroman of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Kroman of Birmingham, Ala. The ceremony took place yesterday at the Belden-Stratford hotel.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

A Church Supper Salad.

Recently when we were working over some hashy salad recipes, with Halloween in mind, and with peanuts to feature (because the get up of a peanut has its weirdities and oddities), strangely and paradoxically enough one of the products we got seemed to us eminently suited to church supper use. We have received many invitations to provide recipes for inexpensive items of this type, and this recipe, considering the bulk of the product, can be so rated.

The recipe we tested read thus: One cup celery, three cups cabbage, one cup roasted peanuts—each measured after being cut fine—then two green peppers, one large dill or a few sweet pickles, one hard cooked egg—these latter ground or, in the case of the egg, mashed or grated fine. Mix the ingredients with mayonnaise or cooked, or French dressing and serve on lettuce leaves. (The latter can be spared under some circumstances, and so can the pickle.)

It must be admitted that a bit of pickle does chirk up this salad wonderfully, but with an old fashioned cream dressing it will not be missed. Here is one: One teaspoon or a little more of salt, same of mustard or up to one teaspoon and one-half, two teaspoons of sugar or less—blended—one egg lightly beaten, two tablespoons of melted butter, three-fourths cup of thin cream (or same of milk, thickened with one tablespoon of flour).

Cook over boiling water and when hot add slowly one-fourth cup of hot vinegar. Cook till like soft custard, beating with an egg beater, should it start to separate. For nicest salads, thin with whipped cream.

Not a Boutonniere, but a Button Air

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Madame Fashion has certainly button holed us and succeeded in getting a long interview. Look over the street and sports costumes of this season—yea, plunge your glance even among some of the most lordly of afternoon models—and you will find that buttons play a large part in fashionable activities.

To this fact today's attractive and unusual street model bears important witness. Here round bone buttons are employed on the shoulders and they fasten that original shield shaped front section of the skirt to its red suede belt. Also do they fasten the sides of that section down to the foundation. A touch of color corroborating that of the belt is effected through the fact that all the button holes are done in red.

For the rest, this frock, bearing out the popularity of navy blue, is an exceedingly arresting combination of navy twill and matching crêpe de chine. The latter forms the corsage which is topped by a yoke of the twill. Also of twill are the fitted sleeves.

The pointed yoke is still a feature of our style interest and it is employed on both jumper and one piece models. Perhaps its most striking exemplification occurs in one of those smart one piece models of checked woolen fabric now so much to the fore.

YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN

by MRS. GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Are You There?

"O, we often leave him," the mother explained one evening at a party. "He doesn't mind. Often when I want to go out in the afternoon and stay out for dinner I leave his supper all fixed and he comes home from school and plays, and then eats his dinner and goes to bed. He's used to it."

"Yes," said his father, "and one night when we got in we found he'd eaten only part of his dinner, so we woke him up, thinking he might be sick. 'No,' he said, 'I'm all right. Only I thought if you weren't home in the morning I'd have something for breakfast.'"

Doesn't it make your heart ache to think of the lonely little chap? And doesn't it make you remember how you used to come dashing in from school with your books under your arm and call out, "Mother, where are you?" and the cozy little feeling you used to have when that warm voice would answer: "Here I am, upstairs, dear," or "On the back porch," or "In the kitchen."

An empty house is no place for children to come home to after school. They've been away from you the greater part of the day under the care of some one else. Now is your time—from now on until bedtime. Even if they go out to play all the rest of the afternoon, you should be the pervading spirit of the house. This doesn't mean that you must never go out for bridge, or tea, or music, or shopping, or business. You must have some freedom—some change.

But it does mean that home should be a warm, receptive place to which the children can bring happiness, troubles, hunger, sickness, interests, and friends, after school, and that you should be the one to make it so.

So, most of the time, are you there?

[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I. G.: CLEANLINESS IS THE MOST important feature in the care of perspiring feet. Not only should the feet be bathed daily but the stockings should be changed every day. Apply freely the following solution: Alcohol, one pint; salicylic acid, two drams.

T. Y.: MANY OF THE DYES ON the market are harmful. Probably the most popular method of changing the color of hair is using henna, a paste made from the leaves of a shrub. It is a vegetable extract. When applied by experienced hands there is little danger of injuring the hair.

Here's Another 50-50 Marriage Near the Rocks

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am 23, married two years and am still working as secretary. Now we have a beautiful home completely furnished and I am able to quit work if I want to. My husband's position is such that he has a lot of time on his hands during the day, which gives him an opportunity to have a good time.

"He recently met a single fellow who wants him to take a long trip with him. He pals with this fellow during the day and is tired and irritable at night and will not take me out. This friend of his seems to make my husband dissatisfied with married life and every time we have a quarrel, which is often lately, he tells me he wishes he were single. He asked me to separate for six months.

"I love him, but I do think he is acting most selfishly after I've worked so hard to get our home together. Would you advise me to leave my work? He tells me if I quit he will continue to have his good times during the day without interference from me.

"When I buy a new dress with my own money, he raises cain. I shudder when I think what he would raise if I was dependent on him for money.
"TERRY."

I'm not sure, Terry, that yours is a case solvable by your becoming the dependent wife. It may be, though. If you were there in the daytime to pal around with the outside influence would be ruled out.

I wouldn't accept the idea of separating for six months. You'd be further apart at the end of that time. And, besides, you love the young man and want to keep him, which is the thing for you to bend every effort toward doing.

Some men seem to be able to accept the idea of a woman contributing to the furnishing of a comfortable home, buying her own clothes, and lifting the responsibility a bit from their shoulders in a spirit of sportsmanship. But my experience is that there are other men whose best qualities are brought out by being made to bear the whole load. Whether you have that kind or not, you are in a better position to judge than I. His complaining about you buying your own clothes isn't encouraging.

On the other hand, his resentment may be born of the fact that he isn't buying and providing for you. Suppose you do stay home for awhile. If you can do it uncomplainingly I think maybe you'll win. And perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea to start a little family.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

She Hung Up.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have met a girl whom I was to call up for the first time. I was late in doing so. When I did she hung up on me. Could you advise?
Lou."

You called, even though late, and she should have given you an opportunity to explain. To hang up, as she did, was an unpardonable offense.

She Seemed Human.

I had just finished enrolling for classes in the university and I was still chafing under the edict that all freshmen are required to take mathematics. I had hated the stuff in high school and thought it ridiculous to have to take it in college.

While waiting for my friend to finish registering I started talking with a young woman who I supposed was a student, exclaiming to her, "What do you know! I am forced to take some stupid math and I don't know one thing about it. I suppose I'll get some stupid professor, to make matters worse."

You can feature my embarrassment when I walked into class the next day and found the young woman I had been lamenting to was to be my algebra teacher.

WOMAN'S AND MISSES DRESS.

This trim sports dress is one that will serve many purposes, and is made of black crêpe satin. The jabot is made of the dull surface of the crêpe, which is also used for the narrow cuff bands that tie in bows, and to pipe the scalloped outline of the skirt. Printed velveteen in forest green, navy blue fine twill, and cocoa brown crêpe satin are especially smart and practical.

The pattern, 3157, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 40 inch material and ⅝ yard of 36 inch contrasting.

BAMBINO'S BAT SETS 10 WORLD SERIES RECORDS

Each Yankee Gets $5,702.

JOE DUGAN.

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The 1927 world's series has passed quickly into baseball history with ten records smashed and five others tied chiefly through the batting prowess of Babe Ruth, the "makings" of a stormy controversy in the Bush-Cuyler-Dreyfuss situation, and increased prestige for the victorious New York Yankees.

The speedy ending of the series, equaling the record set by the Boston Braves in winning four straight games in 1914, prevented the battle from smashing records for attendance and gate receipts, although the figure for the third game, at the Yankee stadium, did set up a new high "gate" of $209,665 for a single contest, while the players' pool also is the greatest on record.

Each Yankee regular, as well as Manager Miller Huggins, Art Fletcher, and Charley O'Leary, coaches, will pocket $5,702, it was decided at a meeting of the players today. The Pirates have not yet figured the individual player shares.

It was the first time in five years that the series has failed to be a million dollar affair. The total receipts were more than $50,000 in excess of the total for the first four games of the 1926 series, which set the high mark for seven games of $1,207,864.

Clubs Refund on Tickets.

The rival clubowners, as a result of the series brevity, must refund close to $50,000 to ticket holders who purchased the pasteboards in Pittsburgh as well as New York in three game strips.

Although the American league champions won two of the four games, the first and last, more on Pirate mistakes than on their skill, the series left no question of Yankee supremacy. Taking the series as a whole, the expensive cast piloted by Miller Huggins outplayed, outhit, outpitched, and outsmarted the National league champions. The Pirates unquestionably were in a bad slump all the way through, suffering a reaction from their hard pennant fight, but they were up against a team that had everything.

This included four first class pitchers, each of whom won a game. This establishes a new record for world series play, it being the first time in history that four different pitchers have won on four successive days for any one club.

The Yankees outbatted their rivals .279 to .223 and, on the averages, outfielded them .981 to .962.

Babe Ruth's bat smashed eight of the ten records broken and tied another to clinch for him probably a stronger claim than any other player to the individual hero rôle of the series.

Herb Pennock, holding the Pirates hitless for seven innings, and to only three safe blows altogether in the third game, was the pitching hero. "Jumping Joe" Dugan turned in the most sensational fielding performance.

Koenig Leading Batter.

Taking the series as a whole, however, Ruth's bat was the most consistently prominent feature, figuring in all four victories. The Babe's three singles upset the Pirates in the first game, his sacrifice fly tallied a run in the second, his first homer furnished the climax to the Yankee barrage in the third battle and his second home run kept the Yankees from possible defeat in the fourth game.

Ruth drove in more runs than any other player, seven, and accounted for the only two circuit clouts of the series. He was a constant threat at the plate and handled his position in the field faultlessly. The Babe was outhitted by Combs, Koenig and Lloyd Waner, besides being outbatted by Koenig, who led both clubs' regulars with a figure of .500, but the big slugger was more of a decisive factor than any of these stars.

Here is a tabulation of the record performances produced in the series:

MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Yankees tied Braves record of winning four straight games.
2. Third game set new mark in receipts, $209,665.
3. Both teams tied record for fewest assists, five, in second game.
4. Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, tied record for most triples in one series, two.
5. Herb Pennock, Yankee southpaw, tied record of most victories, five, and no defeats in series competition, formerly held alone by Jack Coombs.
6. Players' pool, $399,440.67, broke former mark, $372,300.51, set in 1926.

BABE RUTH'S RECORDS.

1. Most runs, total series, 22; former record, 20, held by E. Collins.
2. Most series played, eight; breaking own former record.
3. Most series batted, 300 or better, four; tying Frank Frisch.
4. Most home runs, total series, ten, breaking own former record of eight.
5. Most total bases, total series, 63; breaking former record of 53, held by Eddie Collins.
6. Most extra bases on long hits, total series, [illegible]; breaking own former record of 30.
7. Most bases on balls, total series, 28; former record, 26.
8. Most runs batted in, total series, 22; breaking former record of 18 held by Frank [illegible]
9. Most strikeouts, total series, 25; breaking former record of 23, held by George [illegible]

JIMMY PHELAN.

The decisive victory of Purdue over Harvard, 19 to 0, in one of the most important intersectional struggles of the year and the defeat of Yale by Georgia, 14 to 10, were the striking features of the football games played last Saturday.

In some cases the contests were more bitterly fought than expected, but in the main the elevens expected to emerge on the long end of the scores rewarded their followers. In practically all the important contests the forward pass was a dominant offensive factor, while the lateral and backward passes did not figure in the results.

Defeats of Harvard and Yale eliminate these teams from any consideration as a national champion, while their conquerors must command the respect of future opponents. Purdue will return to Lafayette with kindled spirits, and as soon as Capt. Wilcox gets back into the game Purdue will be represented by a team which should be a very important factor in Big Ten football. Georgia should be a strong contender for the southern title.

Notre Dame in Race.

In the middle west Iowa and Indiana were put out of the running for the Big Ten title because of defeats by Ohio State and Chicago, respectively. Notre Dame kept in the race for national honors by winning over Detroit, 20 to 0.

In the Missouri valley conference, the victory of Missouri over Nebraska, 7 to 6, was by far the most important result of the section games. Unless Missouri takes a slump in one of its remaining conference games the Tigers should win the championship.

The games on the Pacific coast resulted as expected. St. Mary's, which had defeated Stanford on Oct. 1, fell before California, 13 to 0, and Southern California barely squeezed out a victory over the Oregon Aggies, 13 to 12. Stanford won its conference game from Nevada, 20 to 2, and Oregon and Idaho battled to a scoreless tie.

Phelan's Strategy Wins.

Purdue's victory over Harvard was a decided triumph for western conference football. The Boilermakers, weakened by the loss of Capt. Wilcox, their star half back, simply went out on the Harvard gridiron and outplayed the Crimson in practically every department of the game. Coach Jimmy Phelan, who deserves a lot of credit for rearranging his back field in a week's time, simply instructed his players to toss caution to the winds and to violate all the fundamental principles of football in order to cross Harvard.

Scarcely any close follower of football had expected Georgia to defeat Yale. The game was considered a setup in most quarters, but it happened to be just the reverse. The southern eleven played a brand of football which completely baffled Old Eli, which must show improvement to warrant victories over such teams as Brown, Army, Dartmouth, and Princeton in the later and more important struggles.

Iowa Surprises Ohio State.

In the middle west two conference elevens which had been expected to show more offensive and defensive power, failed to live up to expectations. These were Ohio State and Northwestern. The Buckeyes won over Iowa, 13 to 6, and the Purple was victor over Utah by a similar count. In neither case, however, did the winning teams show the strength expected. Ohio and Northwestern meet at Columbus on Saturday and the team which shows the improvement during the week should be the victor.

Iowa played mighty good football against Ohio and supporters of the Hawkeye eleven can point with pride to the great fight put up by their team.

Northwestern did not assert its power against Utah, which gave the Purple some unexpected opposition. The Purple is a better team than it showed Saturday, but the fact remains it did not play its game. There must be a more savage attack and the men in the interference must make sure of the players they are delegated to block. This aggressive spirit will undoubtedly be instilled in the players this week by Coach Hanley.

Maroons Show Reversal.

Coach Stagg revamped his Maroons sufficiently in a week's time to defeat Indiana, 13 to 0. The Midway eleven showed a pleasing recovery after its defeat by Oklahoma on the previous Saturday.

Michigan and Wisconsin, which meet in one of the most important western conference games of the year at Madison on Saturday, showed they are ready for this battle. The Wolverines won over the strong Michigan State elevens, 21 to 0, and the Badgers were victors over Kansas, 26 to 6. Both elevens have been pointed for Saturday's game since the opening day of practice and it should be one of the most savagely played games of the Big Ten season.

Minnesota continued to assert its power by winning over Oklahoma Aggies, 40 to 0. Coach Spears has a powerful outfit at the Gopher institution and it is a team which will improve as the season wears on. Minnesota meets Indiana at Bloomington on the week-end.

Illini Have Passing Offense.

Illinois gave Butler a drubbing, 58 to 0. The Orange and Blue displayed plenty of team play and its forward passing is indicative of the fact Illinois will rely upon the passing game for its victories in the later conference struggles. Illinois' first conference game will be with Northwestern at Evanston on Oct. 22.

Notre Dame showed it is ready for the Navy on Saturday. The South Bend eleven flashed a fine running attack which was varied by forward passing. The regulars, Christy Flanagan, especially, showed they have regained last year's form and Notre Dame should reach a high point of development for the Navy struggle, another very important intersectional contest.

Lafayette Cheers Purdue Team for Harvard Victory

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 9.—[Special.]—Lafayette turned out tonight to greet the Purdue university football team's special train on its return from the successful invasion of Harvard. Thousands jammed the streets leading to the station and the players were given a wild reception as they stepped from the train. Ray Welch, the spectacular sophomore half back who sprang to heights of fame against the Crimson, Capt. "Cotton" Wilcox, still on crutches, and Coach Jimmy Phelan were honored in particular by the crowd.

All of the players came through the game in fair shape except Wilson and Leichtle, who are both limping. No serious injuries were reported, however, and the squad should be in shape for the Chicago game next Saturday. Little hope is held, however, that Wilcox will be able to don a uniform this week.

Hard practice sessions are scheduled for every day until the departure for Chicago Saturday, as the Harvard game showed weaknesses on the team which must be corrected before the Boilermakers will be ready for Stagg's strong Maroons.

Harvard's line was not as strong as it was expected to be, the Purdue coach said.

"If Harvard's showing Saturday was an indication of its full strength, it will not match up with any of the Big Ten elevens," Phelan declared.

JONES GRABS ONE OUT OF THE AIR

Ben Jones, Cardinal quarter back, receives a forward pass from Mickey McDonnell. In the second period of the Dayton game yesterday Jones gained 15 yards on this play. The pass brought the ball within scoring distance, but time was called with the Cards one yard short of the goal. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Almquist Sets Pace for Big 10 Grid Scorers

[By The Associated Press.]

HAROLD ALMQUIST.

Leading the drive of the greatest scoring machine in the Western conference is Almquist, Minnesota quarter back, who has slipped over seven touchdowns in the Gophers' first two games. He is double the mark of Louis Gilbert, the Michigan triple threat man, who rates third in total points. Byron Eby of Ohio State is second in touchdowns with four.

Field goal kicking seems about to become a lost art, as none has sailed over the retreating crossbars in a conference game this season.

Leading scorers of the conference in the first two games:

LANE LEADS IN EAST

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Myles Lane of Melrose, Mass., Dartmouth half back, took the lead in the race for individual football scoring honors in the east when he rolled up three touchdowns against Allegheny Saturday. Two of his latest touchdowns came within one minute of each other. Lane's total is 53 points. Capt. Johnny Roepke of Penn State, who led a week ago, dropped when he made only one point in his team's unexpected defeat by Bucknell. The leaders:

CROWDS STORM FRENCH CLUB TO SEE DAVIS CUP

[Copyright: 1927: By The New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 9.—French tennis enthusiasts had their first opportunity to see the famous Davis cup this afternoon at the Racing Club of France on the Bois de Boulogne, and judging from the way between three and four thousand of them swirled around it when it was placed on view in the center court and under the grand stand it was a sight they much enjoyed.

Before the cup was shown France had an opportunity to see its victorious stars in action. Lacoste and Borotra opposed Cochet and Brugnon in a doubles match which, if it lacked the thrills of a tournament competition, certainly was well worth seeing. The former pair won by the score of 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 8-6, but the match was not at all one sided, especially the last set when Cochet and Brugnon pulled up from 1-4 to tie at 6-all, due to Brugnon's steadiness and Cochet's brilliant forehand.

Hanley Cracks His Whip; Wildcats Fall Into Line

DICK HANLEY.

Decrying the lackadaisical manner in which the Wildcats performed against Utah, Coach Dick Hanley last night intimated that there would be a startling shakeup in the Northwestern university football forces today. This, he hopes, may remedy the performance of Saturday, when the erstwhile Wildcats were meek, lacking the drive that characterized their former work and which, he said, would openly invite disaster if continued against Ohio State.

Capt. Victor Gustafson, Hanley said, will be kept out of uniform today and tomorrow to allow him to recover from minor hurts. Today the first string back field will be composed of Bert Fox as quarter back, Bill Calderwood at full, and Russell Bergherm and Johnny Haas at the halves. They will work behind the regular line, whose constituents will be the same as before except that Harry Anderson and Bob Schneider, because of their work Saturday, will supplant Dart and Hazen at guards.

"Until the former regulars prove they are better than the newcomers they will do the scrub team work," Hanley said.

Field Generalship Poor.

"There was no difference between the plays with which Bergherm and Haas marched sixty yards to the winning touchdown and the plays that the others failed with earlier in the game.

"Yes, we were under cover, if by that you mean that we did not use a certain few plays, but to what avail will these be if the basic plays fail to gain? The quarter backs used terrible judgment, and the blocking was atrocious. But the law of conmpensation followed us to make our line function better defensively, which is a good sign."

Karsten Back at Tackle.

Kartsen's return to a tackle position will make the line perform better, Hanley believes. He was kept out of the Utah game to rest his injury still more.

Meanwhile, Purple rooters are planning for a record exodus from Evanston Friday night. Three special trains will carry more than a thousand students and alumni to Columbus for the game.

2 HORSES SHARE FRENCH RACING CHAMPIONSHIP

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Mon Talisman, owned by Martinez Dehoz, today won the Arc de Triomphe stakes, the last big feature of the season's flat racing at Longchamps. The winner thus shares the season's honors with Fiterari, who defeated Mon Talisman in the Grand Prix de Paris and the Royal Oaks, and who was defeated by Mon Talisman in the Chantilly Derby.

Wright, Pirate Shortstop, Arrested After Auto Smash

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Glenn Wright, shotstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was arrested on a reckless driving charge today, after his car collided with another machine. Wright was unhurt. Melvin Morgan, 33, driver of the other machine, was slightly injured. Wright and Morgan posted forfeits for a hearing.

Borg Sets World Record in Half Mile Swim at Berlin

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—Arne Borg made a new world's record in the half mile swim of 10:14⅘ at Luna park today.

MAROONS EYE PURDUE TILT

With a conference victory under their belts, Coach A. A. Stagg's now confident Maroons begin today for the more hazardous task of stopping Purdue, which, fresh from its victory over Harvard, will be the next team to invade the Midway.

Despite the fact that his entire squad survived the Indiana combat without injury, Coach Stagg will give the players a day of comparative rest today before sending them into scrimmage against Purdue plays tomorrow.

For the first time this season, the Maroons will have the advantage of scrimmaging against the newly organized Maroon freshmen team, which has been working on Purdue plays for the last week. According to the program, Stagg's men will have two days of scrimmage against the freshmen, while members of the 1931 back field alternate in emulating Wilcox and Welch. The varsity will be strengthened in its assault on Purdue by the return of "Red" Burgess, sophomore full back. Burgess was available against the Hoosiers but Stagg chose to reserve his convalescing star for future duty.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

NORMAN STRADER.

A final four minute drive of 60 yards which ended with a touchdown brought the Chicago Cardinals a 7 to 0 victory over Dayton yesterday in a National Pro league football game at Cardinal park. Until that successful drive the Cardinals seemed about to present the visitors with an unearned scoreless tie.

There was no doubt about the Cardinals' superiority over the invading eleven but there was considerable doubt in the minds of the 3,000 fans whether the Cards ever would be able to overcome their self-imposed handicap of fumbling and poor generalship to score against the stubborn resistance of Dayton. The Cards made 14 first downs, three of which were the result of forward passes, while only twice did Dayton complete its required distance, and each by the narrowest of margins.

Britton Stars for Dayton.

Dayton never threatened to score, unless Earl Britton's miserable attempt at place kicking from the 35 yard line could be called a threat. But it was Britton, former Illini star, who was most effective in keeping the Cardinals from the scoring zone. His lengthy punts, time and again sent the ball out of danger after the Cardinals had plunged it down the field. Risvold, Cardinal safety man in the first half, who just couldn't catch Britton's spirals, was quite an aid to Dayton's defense, but Micky McDonnell, who essayed that role in the second half, handled them in spectacular fashion, his best effort bringing a Britton kick back 35 yards.

Ike Mahoney, Strader, and Jones snagged the glory of the winning 60 yard drive. Mahoney and Strader shot off tackle and cut back for two successive first downs. Then from the Dayton 30 yard line, Jones left handed a pass to Starder who was downed on the five yard line.

Strader Scores Touchdown.

Three times the Dayton forward wall held, but on the fourth try Strader went over his right guard for the touchdown. Weller place kicked the extra point. So close was the time margin on the Cardinal victory that after the ensuing kickoff and one Dayton forward pass, which was incompleted, the game was over.

The Cardinals ran a losing race against time at the end of the first half. Two passes, from McDonnell to Jones, put the ball on Dayton's 15 yard line with less than 30 seconds to play. Another pass, Jones to Bucklin, gained nine yards, but with time for only one play McDonnell was stopped one yard from the goal line on a wide end run.

Earlier in the quarter Weller's place kick from the 25 yard line struck one of the goal posts and the Cards were denied three points, which would have been sufficient to win yesterday's ball game.

Although the Cardinal punting was lacking in distance Tays, who once ornamented the Cardinal bench but now plays quarter back for Dayton, added to the distance gained by his reluctance to handle the ball with so many red clad linesmen waiting to pin him to earth.

ANITA PEABODY, REIGH COUNT ARE DERBY FAVORITES

Mrs. Hertz's Horses Will Winter Here.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicagoans who desire to keep an eye on the two favorites to win the great 3 year old American turf classics of next season, including the Kentucky Derby, won't have far to travel to take a look at this pair of aristocratic thoroughbreds.

For Reigh Count, which will be the next Derby favorite, and Anita Peabody, the second choice, will idle away the winter months on the picturesque Leona Farm at Cary, Ill. Leona farm is owned by John D. Hertz, the taxicab magnate. Reigh Count and Anita Peabody are owned by Mrs. Hertz, who during a few weeks late this season has enjoyed a remarkable run of turf fortune and become one of the leading figures among the thoroughbred horse owners of the nation.

Anita Peabody at Home.

Anita Peabody is already at Leona farm resting up from a stiff campaign which included a victory in the famous Belmont Futurity. Reigh Count, victor in Saturday's Kentucky Jockey Club stakes from the most stylish band of 2 year old colts in the country, will fill an engagement in the Pimlico Futurity in Maryland, then proceed to Leona farm, where all he will have to do during the late fall and winter months will be to play, romp over the hills and valleys of Leona farm and grow into a horse that can win the rich colt stakes for 3 year olds of next spring and summer.

Never has one owner duplicated this year's feat of Mrs. Hertz in winning the most prized eastern 2 year old fixture, the Belmont Futurity, and the western 2 year old classic, the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes. Anita Peabody and Reigh Count won these races and a total of more than $130,000 for Mrs. Hertz. It is a well earned winter's holiday they are going into on Leona farm.

Continue Hawthorne Meeting.

The victories by the two Hertz 2 year olds have created great interest in the thoroughbred sport among Chicago sportsmen. Anita Peabody won her only start at Washington Park. Reigh Count did not appear this season at any of the Chicago tracks. It will probably be June of next year before either appears here. But if 2 year old form counts for anything Anita Peabody and Reigh Count will be heard from when the Preakness, the Derby, the Oaks and the handicaps are decided next season.

Racing continues at Hawthorne today, where the fields are large. Many new horses have come into the Chicago district lately for the Arlington Park opening on Thursday and they are being raced at Hawthorne during the three days in which the finishing touches are being put on the American-National Jockey club's beautiful course. A number of them will appear under colors at Hawthorne today.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Football schedules for 1928 and 1929 for the Big Six conference, composed of the withdrawn members of the Missouri Valley conference—Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Kansas Aggies and Iowa State—were drawn up here today at a meeting of the athletic directors of the six schools.

It was the first regular meeting of the new conference, which has not yet been named. The matter of naming the conference was discussed but no action was taken. It was felt that the Big Six nickname would suffice until a regular name is chosen.

Six Directors Attend.

The athletic directors attending today's meeting were Herbert D. Gish of Nebraska, Ben G. Owen of Oklahoma, C. L. Brewster of Missouri, Forest O. Allen of Kansas, M. F. Ahearn of Kansas Aggies, and T. N. Metcalf of Iowa State.

The football schedules arranged today provide for each school to meet every other school, giving each of the six members five conference football games. No other schedules were arranged. Today's action was decided on in order to give the conference members ample time to arrange other dates for intersectional and nonconference tilts.

Next Meeting in St. Louis.

The next meeting likely will be held in St. Louis Dec. 1, it was stated.

BAUMANN WINS AUTO RACE; 2 DRIVERS HURT

Setting a dizzy pace in the last twenty miles, Dutch Baumann of Indianapolis furnished the thrills for 5,000 shivering spectators who witnessed his sensational victory in the 100 mile auto race at Roby speedway yesterday. Baumann's Fronty-Ford covered the distance in :31:05 4-5, 2 minutes ahead of Shorty Cantlon of Detroit in a Miller Special, who was second.

Cantlon took the lead at the fiftieth mile, but fell back in second place when Dutch opened his Fronty. Walt Higley of Colorado and Ray Goodwin fought bitterly for third money, with the Colorado entry taking third place by seconds. The leaders' pace was too fast for Louis Schneider of Chicago, and he finished fifth with his Boyle Valve Special.

Fred Lecklider of Indianapolis collided with Howard Taylor of Detroit while driving ninety miles an hour on the 41st lap. Lecklider suffered a broken collar bone and internal injuries. He will live. Taylor escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Thistles Defeat Canadian Club Boosters, 3 to 1

In another league game the Bricklayers won over Vienna, 4-0, at Riverview park.

Greenlees hit the net twice for the Thistles and Kirby once. F. Davidson scored the Canadian goal. Lineup:

McLarnin and Myers to Clash in Ring Oct. 18

Jimmy McLarnin, the coast lightweight who is matched to meet Spug Myers of Pocatello, Idaho, in one of the ten round bouts of Promoter James C. Mullen's boxing show at the Coliseum on Oct. 18 will settle down to active training today at the Mullen gymnasium.

McLarnin arrived in Chicago last Friday and Promoter Mullen lost no time to sign him for a local engagement. Jimmy expressed a willingness to meet any opponent selected, Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, preferred. After going over the list of eligible candidates, Promoter Mullen decided upon Myers, who has shown in Chicago on several occasions.

The coast lightweight has an inspiring record. He has defeated Joey Sangor and engaged in two draws with Bud Taylor. He met Pancho Villa in the Filipino's last fight before his death. Villa is the former flyweight champion and considered one of the greatest Filipino fighters who ever came to this country.

The local promoter is planning three other ten round bouts, and left yesterday for New York to close with some of the principals.

Jimmy Murphy, the Nebraska bantamweight, arrived in Chicago to complete training for his bout with Pee Wee Kaiser at St. Louis on Oct. 18 Frankie Wall of Omaha, who meets Young Trendall on the same card, arrived with Murphy. Johnny McNamara is manager of Murphy and Wall.

Bob Gives Tips on Duck Hunting at Reelfoot Lake

BY BOB BECKER.

Ozark, Ill.—[To the Editor.]—Will you kindly send what information you have concerning duck hunting at Reelfoot lake, Tenn.? How to get there, accommodations, license fees, etc., also dates of season and best method of hunting. J. D. CAMERON.

Answer—Reelfoot lake, made by an earthquake in the early part of the 19th century, is in the extreme northwest corner of Tennessee. When we went down there we took the I. C. R. R. to Fulton, Ky., and then drove over to the east side of the lake to do our hunting. Hickman, Ky., was the nearest town to our hunting point. If you plan to go by auto THE TRIBUNE touring bureau at 1 South Dearborn street will route you.

The duck season opens Nov. 1 and continues through January. A nonresident license costs $15 and is good for one year, irrespective of when it is written.

The hunting is rather unusual down there, inasmuch as you do your shooting on this big lake filled with cypress groves and old tree trunks, the latter a remnant of what once was a big forest killed by the water of the lake when the earthquake caused the earth's crust to sink. The usual custom is to hire a guide or pusher with boat and block decoys. We do not remember the exact charge for this service, but it's about $7 a day.

The shooting includes a rather mixed bag from black jack to teal, mallards and other puddler ducks. Am sending further denials by letter telling you how to make a contact down there and how to determine the best time to go to this region.

The New York Times.

New York, Oct. 9.—[Special.]—To the multiplying indications, in current reports from the larger industries, that this autumn's trade is on a distinctly smaller scale than that of a year ago, the response made in financial circles The fact of reduction in total trade activity being undeniable, the first reply is apt to be that this is a momentary reaction like that of the summer of 1925 or the winter of 1926, to be followed after a month or two [as it was on those occasions] by sudden renewal of the forward movement on a larger scale than before.

Seems Plausible Theory.

For that contention there is this element of plausibility; that the factor of low stocks of unsold merchandise exists today as it did in the brief reactions of the last two years, when return of the buying constituency, after its two or three months of pause, found the market bare of goods, and when it therefore instantly and rapidly speeded up production.

Such sudden recovery is among the possibilities. Evidently it will depend on the course of the actual consumer's orders. But in another quarter a different approach is made to the question. Belief that there could be no trade reaction having in such circles become a creed during 1926, any emphasis on the fact of greatly reduced activity was at first denounced.

When authentic facts confirmed the statements about relaxing trade activity, denunciation changed its form. Some of the indignant watchers now alleged that whoever called particular attention to the trade phenomena were predicting prolonged and disastrous readjustment.

Other Persons, Other Views.

Others, more concerned with the trade movement itself, were content with insisting that the old time "business collapse" is not possible under existing auspices.

As a matter of fact no prediction of an old time reversal of trade prosperity has been seriously made. No one has emphasized, more clearly than those who foreshadowed the reduction which has occurred in this autumn's trade activities, the improbability of sweeping and demoralizing trade reaction.

Whether the consuming public is or is not to return with the buying capacity and in the spending mood of 1926, the conditions precedent to old time trade convulsions are not present. There is no accumulation of unsold goods, carried on borrowed money, such as used to introduce the forced sales and agonized markets of those other days. There is no reason for expecting today the sudden and violent contraction of credit which repeatedly shook the business structure of pre-war days.

Outside Changes Gradual.

Outside of the stock market there has been no such violent marking-up of prices as used in those older days to render merchants and manufacturers mistrustful about intrinsic values.

It is true that our trade and industry witnessed a violent, convulsive and in many respects disastrous reaction at the close of 1920 and the beginning of 1921—this notwithstanding the fact that the federal reserve's facilities were in full play and the country's new position as large scale creditor to the outside world already well established. But there were three considerations in the situation of that day which not only present no analogy with existing conditions but are diametrically in contrast. One concerned the reserve system itself, whose immense expansion of demand liabilities in financing war and immediate post-war requisitions had brought the system's reserve ratio actually below the legal limit. That meant a 7 per cent bank rate and an 8 per cent open money market.

U. S. FORECAST OF GRAIN CROPS DUE HERE TODAY

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A government crop report for October is due in Chicago today at 2 o'clock, giving the summary of grains and other leading crops.

Private corn crop estimates are for [illegible] to 2,595,000,000 bu. Nat C. Murray estimates the crop at 2,615,000,000 bu, and his figures are the highest of the private statisticians. The average figure of the private reports is [illegible] bu, and last year's government final was 2,457,000,000 bu. Conditions have improved materially since Sept. 1 and were they taken today it is believed that a further slight betterment would be shown.

Private estimates on spring wheat are for [illegible] to 297,000,000 bu. Last month the government's estimate was [illegible] bu, against 205,000,000 bu harvested last year. Private estimates average [illegible] bu, or 3,000,000 bu less than in September. Estimates on oats are for around 1,170,000,000 bu, a good reduction for the month, and will compare with 1,250,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Wheat Market Stubborn.

Stubbornness prevailed in the wheat market during the week in the face of bearish conditions in the way of good crops in Australia and Argentina, which were, in a measure, offset by unfavorable weather for thrashing in the American and Canadian northwest, and by mixed reports from Europe.

October wheat in Chicago sold Saturday at $1.28, December $1.31⅝@1.31½, March $1.34⅝, and May $1.36⅞@1.37, net gains being 2@2⅞c for the week. Prices for the week follow:

Trading in Corn Reduced.

FARM AND GARDEN

By FRANK RIDGWAY

Illinois corn crop is a sad sight. Recent winds and rains have left hundreds of acres of stalks twisted and tangled with the leaves whipped to shreds. The best corn in the early fields is tangled the worst. Handling the crop with machinery in the northern counties will be extremely difficult in most fields. Much of the corn that is worth harvesting will have to be picked by hand.

Stalks are bent over so that the ears are touching the ground and the tips are moulding. A big percentage of the blades have lost their green color in the northern counties, except in the extremely late fields.

The light frost that hit central Illinois Saturday morning did little damage even to the tenderest field and garden crops. The frosts so far have merely hastened maturity of the late crops.

Many fields of late corn already have been labeled a failure by farmers. During the last week corn growers in Will, Iroquois and Kankakee disked up their fields without removing any of the crop and are sowing wheat on the land.

The quality of the stover is going to be low in many fields, so inferior that feeders will hesitate to cut it where they have plenty of hay and other roughage.

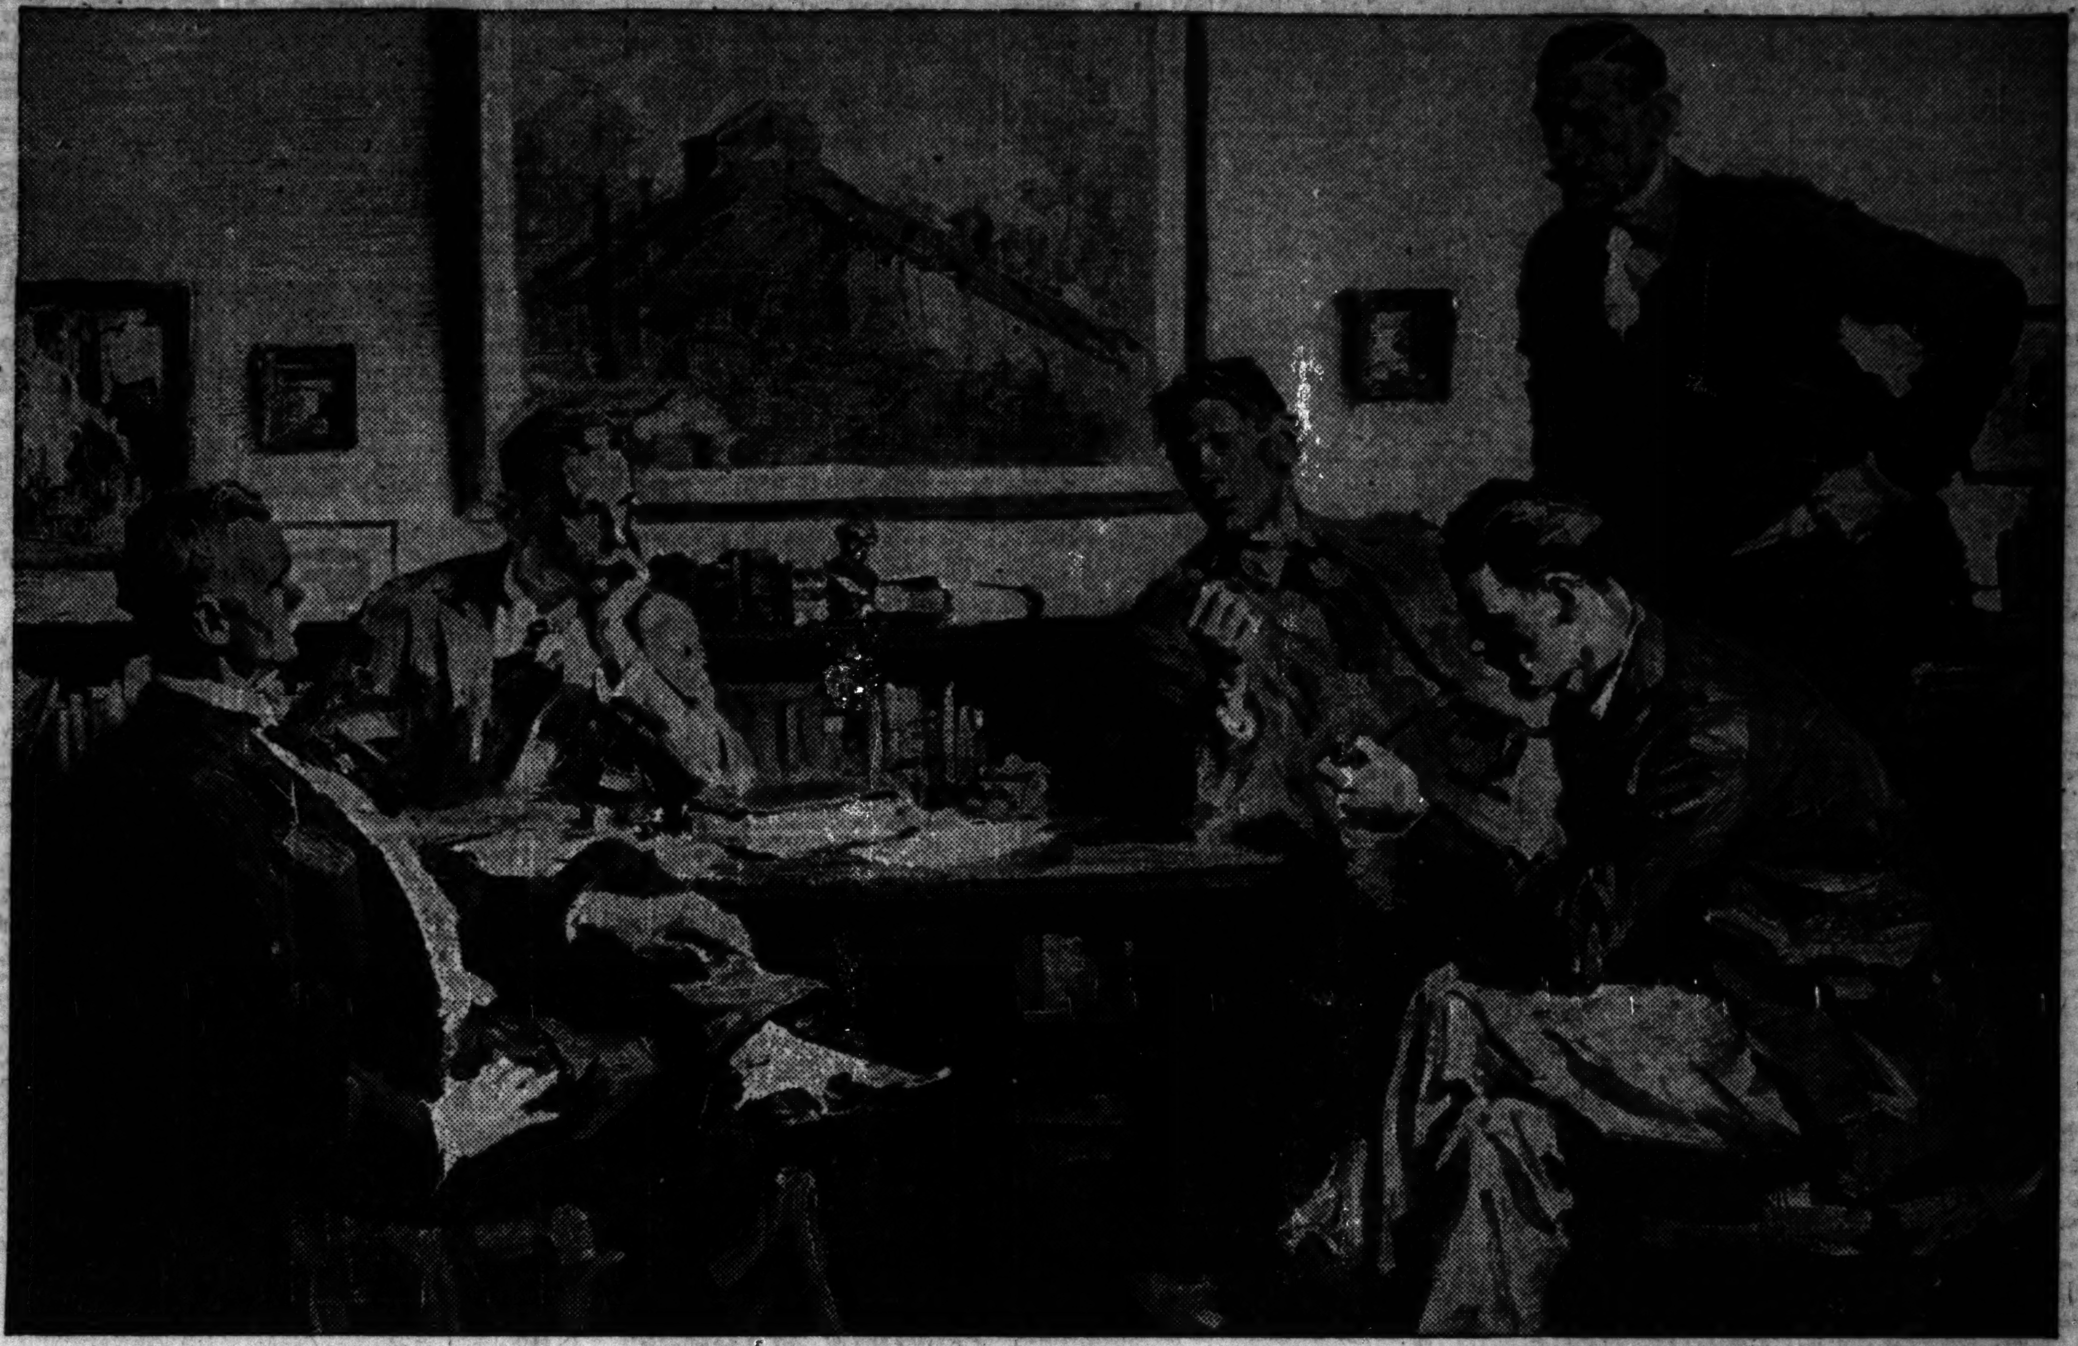
LITTLE DRAMAS IN THE LIFE OF A GREAT NEWSPAPER SYSTEM



Painted for Scripps-Howard Newspapers by Frank B. Hoffman

The leaders got together and a national crisis disappeared

An ominous coal strike appeared on the horizon . . . a threatening cloud to the national prosperity.

A SCRIPPS-HOWARD Newspaper circulated a petition, asking the President to appoint an impartial arbitrator and get the belligerents together.

A million signatures were secured. The President acted. A peacemaker was named. The leaders got together. And the black cloud rolled away.

There would be few wars if the leaders got together and smoked things out over their pipes while their tempers were still cool. . . .

But the trick is to find a go-between, trusted by both parties, to arrange the harmony meeting.

That has often been the privilege and achievement of SCRIPPS-HOWARD Newspapers. In a controversy between Capital and Labor, both sides know that SCRIPPS-HOWARD may be relied upon for a fair and strictly neutral attitude, until the right or the wrong of the issue has been justly determined.

But these newspapers remain impartial until they are sure which side has the righteous cause.

And that is the side they then champion . . . without giving or asking quarter.

WELL DRILLING FOR OIL STILL IS BIG GAMBLE

BY HARPER LEECH.

Although gold and silver constitute an almost constantly declining percentage of the annual six billion and over mineral "take" of the American people, modern mining has by no means lost the gamble and risk we associate with the search for the precious metals.

It is safe to say our mineral output would be considerably less than six billions a year if mining had to be developed under the investment rules which govern institutions like insurance companies. In the last year for which records are complete, oil drillers struck out of every 100 attempts 67 oil wells, 10 gas wells and 23 disappointments. Geology has to a slight degree diminished the risk in drilling, but the percentage of failures for the last year of record is higher than the percentage for the whole history of the industry.

And modern drilling costs are mounting. The prospecting of Seal beach, California, is a good example—in 1921 exploration began with the drilling of a dry hole—each year since then holes were drilled, 18 in all. Finally at 4,427 feet, oil was struck. The successful drillers previously had drilled another 5,000 foot hole and failed. One unsuccessful outfit drilled a total of 30,000 feet in various holes, another 17,000, another 12,000, and they got nothing. The winner drilled 10,000 feet less than the losers. All this within a mile and a half radius. At a cost of $20 per foot, on the average, the American Petroleum institute figures this exploration cost $1,700,000, most of which was a dead loss.

An interesting analysis of the operations in the Seminole field made about the time the restrictive output policy was just being started estimated that development costs in that field would average $100,000 per well, an average of $70,000 for drilling the well, $14,000 per well for the air lift equipment with which the new field is being quickly exploited, $10,000 for 5,000 barrel tankage capacity per well, and $6,000 per well for gas and water connections, employé housing and other structures.

Applying this figure to the 507 wells then drilled, A. F. Hinton of the Petroleum News figured that the cost of developing the field at the time it had already delivered 54,750,000 barrels of oil had been about $50,700,000. If the pool should actually deliver all its oil within two years or less, under the new intensive modes of exploitation employed, the prospects for any amazing profits were not bright. A capital investment of $50,000,000 which would be obsolete in two years is a big commitment.

While oil is more elusive than solid minerals and the chances greater in its exploitation, the continuous reports of new discoveries of copper and iron deposits where geologists had previously reported pinch outs, and the contrary news having to do with the dwindling of old reliable producers, indicate the risks in other mining chances which have been greatly enhanced by the more mobile character of industries and the competition of so many substitute materials in building and manufacture. A few years ago radium production was going big in Colorado—the big end of the industry has shifted to Belgium. It originally flourished in what is now Czecho-Slovakia.

BUSINESS CRISIS PASSES; NOW IT'S TRADE RECESSION

Although there always will be business cycles, new conditions have entered the scene, which will tone its effect considerably, according to Melvin A. Traylor, president of the American Bankers' association and president of the First National bank of Chicago. Mr. Traylor makes his observations in the journal of the association in connection with the annual convention to be held next week at Houston, Tex.

"Past generations of business men," says Mr. Traylor, "had a fatalistic resignation that every so often the nation had to go through periods of 'business sackcloth and ashes.' Prolonged present day prosperity has created the impression that improved methods and economic changes have made such occurences no longer probable.

"Certainly we cannot look forward to an unbroken continuation of expansion at the rate of the last two or three years, but at the same time we need not fear a recurrence of conditions that will plunge the nation into the depths of the more violent financial panics, such as have occurred in the past. The normal state of affairs in a business sense is change and not a stationary condition or an unbroken rise in prosperity, but rather a certain amount of variation through expanding or contracting activity.

"There are grounds for the belief that there has been a change for the better in certain aspects of the business cycle as it may be expected to operate in the future in the United States. Cycles have been described as consisting of prosperity, crisis, depression, and revival. Conditions have come into being which tend to soften the second or critical stage, so that in the description of future cycles we might substitute the word 'recession' for 'crisis.' Furthermore, we may hope that the two phases 'recession' and 'depression' may be rendered less disastrous in the future."

RISE IN CELANESE ISSUES FEATURES LONDON MARKET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Another spectacular rise in British Celanese shares overshadowed all other developments in the stock exchange here this week. The meteoric appreciation of the shares from the lowest point of under 6 shillings to more than £6 provided one of the most remarkable gambles in the city's financial history. The company's large bond issue of £2,500,000 7½ per cents was snapped up within a few minutes after the lists opened yesterday, being subscribed more than thirty times.

There is no sign of a halt in the industrial speculative activity, which gradually has been growing since the collapse of the general strike. Gilt edged securities are better, with foreign loans disappointing, the overborrowing at American centers being to some extent responsible.

AMERICAN BANKS BEGIN TO IMPRESS BRITISH PUBLIC

BY SIDNEY CAVE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Oct. 9.—With the recent lull in the more routine activity among American banking institutions in London coincidental with the ending of the tourist season and flocking homeward of American business men and visitors, the city offices of American banks here now are preparing—as is usual at this period—for more active conditions, owing to the seasonal shipments of produce, cotton, and like merchandise.

American institutions are playing a much more important part in the banking world than heretofore, a fact which is helping considerably to foster good relationship between the two countries. The American banking and financial houses, through their branches here, now are much more widely known, and the reason for the branches here is appreciated by the Britishers, owing to the modern, progressive policies introduced by the Yankees.

American Methods Adopted.

For instance, at one time it was considered infra dig for English banking houses to condescend to advertise, just the same as firms engaged in business on the London stock exchange even now are not allowed to advertise in any way whatever.

But the example set by the American banks has effected a notable change. Not so many years ago, for instance, the British public really regarded the Guaranty Trust of New York as an insurance company purely. Now there is no doubt in the minds of the British that it is a typical American banking institution—thanks to the introduction of progressive western publicity methods. English banks now advertise quite extensively and have copied the style of the American banking institutions, especially since the war.

Large American Branches.

Most leading American banks now have big branches in London, engaging considerably in general banking and the financing of American business in Great Britain, Europe and the east. Most of them have palatial West End offices as well as offices in the city financial district around Lombard street.

The chief ones are the Guaranty Trust of New York, National City bank, Equitable Trust of New York, Bankers' Trust, and the American Trust company of San Francisco, while a number of others, such as the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago, the National Bank of Boston, Chemical National bank, and so forth, have the most active representations. The National City bank, with its eastern affiliation, the International Banking corporation, transacts considerable business in China, Japan and the east.

The London branches of American banks do little of the big issues, such as loan flotations, and so forth, the head offices preferring to transact such business direct, but there are several American merchant bankers and issuing houses, Higginson company, Bernard Scholl company, and the National bank, carrying out English issuing business.

The important appointment of an American adviser—Walter Steward of Case, Pomeroy & Co. of New York—to the Bank of England this week created great interest in the London money market and city [illegible] stood here that this [illegible] will be followed by the [illegible] a British adviser to the [illegible] eral Reserve bank—a [illegible] policy of coöperation between [illegible] of England and the [illegible] board.

The simplicity of the financial structure of the Community Water Service Company makes it easy to determine the values back of its securities. The combined value of property, plant and equipment of its subsidiaries, as shown above, totals $34,417,338 against which there are outstanding $18,793,500 of underlying bonds and $3,921,350 of Preferred Stocks. Against the large equities owned by the Community Water Service Company, there are issued and outstanding in the hands of the public only $3,800,000 of Debentures. Due to conservative financing and capable management, the securities of the Community Water Service Company and its subsidiaries, which are offered from time to time, are high grade investments of the type which appeal to conservative investors.

The following information has been summarized from a letter signed by the Board of Management of the Central Bank and by Landrat a. D., Rudolf von Bitter, representing the Guarantor Banks:

BUSINESS: Central Bank of German State & Provincial Banks, Inc. was organized in 1923 by various State, Provincial and other banks owned and controlled by public bodies; one of its purposes is to simplify the raising of money for its members by issuing its own bonds and loaning the proceeds to them.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of these Bonds will be loaned to twelve of the member banks and will be used by such banks solely in granting loans on mortgages on commercial or industrial property. The mortgages will be subject in some cases to revalorised mortgages and those secured on industrial property will be subject to the Public Lien created pursuant to the Dawes Plan.

The Indenture will provide that the amount lent on any property (plus the unamortized portion of the revalorised mortgage, if any) must not exceed 30% of the fair selling value of such property as appraised by the member bank's expert.

SECURITY: These Bonds will be the direct obligation of the Central Bank secured by a pledge with the Trustee in Germany of mortgages described above payable in terms of gold marks. The Indenture will provide that the amount of mortgages so pledged together with securities and cash in the hands of the Trustee must never be less than the equivalent of the amount of Bonds outstanding.

GUARANTEES: Prompt payment of the Bonds in gold dollars is guaranteed by the banks receiving the proceeds of this loan, each being liable in the proportion in which such proceeds are received. The State, Province or taxing authority, by which each participating bank is owned and controlled, is liable for the engagements of such bank.

The States, Provinces and taxing authorities responsible for the respective obligations of the participating banks will be: The Province of Westphalia (which together with the Rhine Province includes the important Ruhr industrial territory), the Province of Lower Silesia, the Province of Upper Silesia and 69 municipalities in Upper Silesia, 500 municipalities and 28 districts in the State of Saxony, the Province of East-Prussia, the District of Cassel, the Province of Pomerania, the District of Wiesbaden, and the States of Thuringia, Hessen, Brunswick, and Lippe-Detmold.

The population of the districts thus responsible for the payment of these Bonds exceeds 24,000,000, or about 38% of the population of Germany.

WE RECOMMEND THESE BONDS FOR INVESTMENT

Price 95 and accrued interest yielding over 6.40%

Bonds offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that Interim Receipts will be ready for delivery on or about October 20, 1927.

OFFICE OF THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Chicago, Illinois, August 24, 1927.

A special meeting of the stockholders of The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company, duly called by the Board of Directors, will be held at the office of the Company, La Salle Street Station, in the City of Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, at ten o'clock in the forenoon on the 31st day of October, 1927, for the purpose of considering, voting and deciding whether the stockholders of the Company will concur in, ratify and approve the proceedings and resolutions of the Board of Directors had and adopted at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors held August 24, 1927, wherein and whereby the Board of Directors authorized, and whether the stockholders will authorize,

[1] The creation of an authorized issue of Secured Gold Bonds of the Company to be issued in series from time to time and to be limited to the aggregate principal amount of $80,000,000 at any one time outstanding;

[2] The execution and delivery of a Trust Indenture, with The National City Bank of New York as Trustee, to secure the payment of said Bonds, which Trust Indenture shall provide for the issuance of a series of $40,000,000 principal amount of said Secured Gold Bonds of the Company to be designated as its Secured 4½% Gold Bonds, Series A Due September 1, 1952, to be dated September 1, 1927, to mature September 1, 1952, to be redeemable prior to maturity at the option of the Company on the terms stated in the Trust Indenture and to be issued upon the pledge under said Trust Indenture as security therefor of $45,000,000 principal amount of the Company's First and Refunding 4% Gold Bonds due April 1, 1934, and shall further provide for the issuance of additional series of said bonds thereunder from time to time, maturing at such dates, bearing such rate of interest and with such provisions for redemption and upon the deposit, as security for each series, of such collateral as may be determined upon at the time by the Board of Directors of the Company;

[3] The inclusion in said Trust Indenture of covenants to be made by the Company for itself and [in case of consolidation, merger or sale] for its successors and assigns of substantially the following effect:

[a] That neither the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds of the Company nor any bonds prior in lien thereto will be extended;

[b] That on or before the maturity of the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, to wit, April 1, 1934, the Company, its successor or assign, will make a new mortgage which shall be a lien upon all the properties then subject to the First and Refunding Mortgage and will make provision in said new mortgage whereby all the Bonds then outstanding under the Trust Indenture to The National City Bank of New York, as Trustee, shall be secured by the said new mortgage equally and ratably with all obligations to be issued under such new mortgage;

[c] That the total amount of bonds to be secured by such new mortgage [together with all outstanding prior debts, after deducting the bonds reserved thereunder to retire the prior debts] shall not exceed three times the then outstanding capital stock of the Company, its successor or assign; and

[d] That pending the making of the said new mortgage the Company, its successors and assigns, will not make any new mortgage upon any of the property subject to the lien of the First and Refunding Mortgage, so that upon satisfaction of the latter the new mortgage may have the same rank as the First and Refunding Mortgage now has;

[4] The approval of the form of the Trust Indenture;

[5] The pledge at the present time under the Trust Indenture of $45,000,000 of the Company's First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds as security for the $40,000,000 Bonds of Series A;

[6] The issuance at the present time of $40,000,000 principal amount of said Secured Gold Bonds to be designated Secured 4½% Gold Bonds, Series A Due September 1, 1952, and the sale thereof upon such terms as the Board of Directors may determine;

[8] For the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.
